FOR GOVERNOR,
GEN. JAMES A. BEAVER,
OF BELLEFONTE,

FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
WILLIAM T. DAVIES,
OF BRADFORD COUNTY.

FOR AUDITOR GENERAL,
COL. A. WILSON NORRIS,
OF PHILADELPHIA.

FOR SECRETARY OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS,
COL. T. J. STEWART,
OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY.

GEN. E. S. OSBORNE,
OF LUZERNE COUNTY.

EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

RANDALL says congress will adjourn next Monday.

MRS. CLEVELAND was 22 years old on Wednesday of last week.

MRS. LANGTRY will sail for this country from Liverpool September 18.

THE Centre Reporter is of the opinion that Samuel Tilden will live forever.

GENERAL CLINTON B. FISK is the Prohibition candidate for Governor of New Jersey.

THE Senate has again made a bad move by refusing to investigate Senator Payne's election.

SARAH BERNHARDT is now in Buenos Ayres mashing the hearts of all who go to see her performances.

MRS CLEVELAND, wife of the President, has a dog named Rover. The President says he regrets the dog is not named Bill for then he could veto it.

ABOUT the only chance left for Sir Charles Dilke to get a vindication, is for him to come to this country and induce the United States Senate not to investigate his case.

THE fourth death in Brooklyn from lock-jaw caused by the toy pistol on the Fourth of July, is reported. The toy pistol is conducting a very vigorous campaign this summer.

A society for the prevention of cruelty to flies is reported to have been organized in Sacramento. This is an evident attempt at infringement on the rights of baldheaded men.

WHICH worthy would make the stronger candidate for President—Brodie, the Brooklyn bootblack, or the Philadelphia cooper who went through the whirlpool in his cask? This is an important query.

IT is said that the N. Y. Sun never errs in its use of language. The Sun says that the word famine is used properly only in connection with scarcity of food and cannot be employed to describe scarcity of drink.

THE Democrats will use Morrison's report on the Randall bill in Free-trade districts and Randall's review of the Morrison bill in the Protectionist districts. This is one of the advantages of a party whose various leaders represent both sides of every question.

WILSON NORRIS will next claim he won the battle of Jericho—a little more benzine and he'll say it—Centre Reporter.

He will never claim to have won that big battle in Centre Hall between Fred. Kurtz and Dr. Alexander. Some people say the Doctor won it, but we long ago credited the victory to Ben Zine.

ON Friday a tornado visited Southwark, which is a suburb of Philadelphia. Among the pranks it played was to blow a man across the street, completely rip his seersucker coat from his back, and blow a number of feathers out of a parrot, which he held in his hand.

CHARLIE WOLFE is now happy as a big sun flower. He couldn't boss the Republican party and so tried to break it up. At last he finds a party that he thinks he will be able to boss, and is now a Prohibitionist and hopes to run that party. Some of the old standbys of Prohibitionist are already beginning to kick a little at Wolfe's leadership, and his happiness may not be of long duration after all.

Don't Talk Until you are Ready.

Gentlemen, don't begin to talk about the candidates until you have something to say. All we have heard and read thus far painfully convinces us that you don't known what to say of them and that you are blindly striving to say some thing and hit the mark by chance. The remarks of the opposition press against Gen. Beaver have been chosen this year with wild recklessness, and they represent him as a man so utterly at variance in character to what he really is as to excite only the surprise and disgust of all Republicans.

For instance, the remarks attributed to him while riding in a car with a whiskey man are of all things most ridiculous. Gen. Beaver may have been in the car with such an individual, but all Bellefonte knows that on the day of the whiskey convention in Pittsburg Gen. Beaver was at his home in this place.

The interview with Gen. Beaver reported to have occurred in Denver represents him as expressing doubt as to the success of the Republican ticket. That's silly, gentlemen. Gen. Beaver was never known to doubt anything. It matters not what odds there may be against him. The effect of opposition is only to make him labor more earnestly for success. To express doubt at this time is the most unlikely thing you could have written of him. Don't endeavor to make people believe such absurdities. To tell falsehoods sometimes seems to have a sort of cheap smartness about it, but when the falsehoods are so awkwardly attempted the effort becomes supremely ridiculous, and stamps the falsifyer as a suitable candidate for the Danville Lunatic Asylum.

One or two of the local papers, for want of something of more importance, have criticised the fact that the General's reception in Bellefonte was exceedingly quiet. This was strictly in accord with the General's desires. We might retaliate that Chairman Hensel's [illegible] in Bellefonte when the latter as a visitor was undemonstrative. But it would have been in bad taste to have made any political display on the occasion of his visit here at the home of a private citizen.

So, all those remarks indulged in by politicians and papers are foolish and out of place. It is clear that they cannot yet find anything worth saying in opposition to General Beaver, and silence on the subject might be more profitable to them and indicate greater wisdom.

Logan-Halstead.

We are not pleased to read that Gen. Logan, of Illinois, must rise from his seat in the Senate and make a defense. Perhaps no paper or person had reason to find fault with him merely because he chose to vote against the proposed investigation of Senator Payne's fraudulent election, but it was certainly becoming for Senator Logan, when he voted in such a questionable way, to have fully explained his reasons. When a man acts in such a manner as to subject him to the least shade of suspicion it is his duty to convice the world that he was influenced by conscience, and nothing else, in so doing. We have no doubt that this was the case with Senator Logan in this vote.

Again, Senator Logan knows that papers of his own party are exceedingly jealous of his reputation. He is looked up to and honored as one of the great men in the party. It was with no desire to "kill him off," but to make him account for a strange action, that they berated him so soundly. He must have known enough of modern journalism to be aware that such would be the effect of his vote.

In replying to the newspapers, Senator Logan directed his remarks to the Commercial-Gazette, of Cincinnati, of which Mr. Halstead is editor. He hauled that journal over the coals and succeeded in showing it, in several instances, in a very discreditable light. In that respect Mr. Logan's speech was successful. But that does not, in the least, explain the reasons for Senator Logan's vote. To be sure, he says he did not think the evidence sufficient to require an investigation. But Senator Hoar and Senator Frye do consider it sufficient, and they are gentlemen of almost equal good judgment.

A proper sense of honor should make even a shade of suspicion sufficient to demand investigation. Senator Payne, if entirely guiltless, should demand it. Our verdict is that in this matter Senator Payne lacks honor and Senator Logan evinces a want of sound sense.

SENATOR PAYNE is somewhat in the condition of the wild turkey that old farmer fired at. He has got away, but he will be likely to roost quite low in the Senate for the rest of his term.

Harmony Misplaced.

The Philadelphia Times, quite often, takes occasion to tender advice to the Democracy, and is just now telling that party what to do with the whiskey question. The Times, in doing so, is itself illogical. It terms whiskey a "buzz saw," in its connection with politics, and, accordingly, it should warn its party to leave the subject entirely alone. If it is dangerous to touch a "buzz saw" it surely will be dangerous for that party to touch upon the whiskey question.

The Times, however, throws logic to the winds and says that "it would seem logical that it (the Democratic party) will now advance with the rapid progress of public sentiment on the question, to the only practical position in harmony with its past deliverances by demanding a high license system." It is quite evident from this that the Times desires its party to be logical and harmonious in policy even if it does not give them a beautiful example of these virtues.

That's what makes us smile. Who that knows anything about the great unwashed Democracy ever knew it to be logical or harmonious in any line of policy? It was the same party which encouraged secession and war, but at this time, even on that great question, the Northern Democratic orators tell us that the party was not entirely unanimous and consistent. Modern Democratic speakers (among them Gov. Curtin) would have us believe that quite a number of Democrats fought in the war on the Union side and against secession.

How has that party been and how is it now on the tariff? Its opinions on this subject are as various as there are different localities in the country. Give about two-hundred miles square to each opinion, divide the area of the country by that and you will have an approximate idea of the number of the various shades of opinions entertained by the party.

Any other great question divides the party the same way. The only subject that all the members of that party are thoroughly agreed on is to vote for a Democratic candidate; that they always do. It was this lack of a definite policy or principle that disgusted us with Democracy when we were quite young.

As for the Republican party, it always has boldness enough to adopt a policy and to follow it to the end. To this the country owes its prosperity. It has taken a stand at all times on every public question, and what makes Democrats feel sort of disgusted with themselves this year is the full knowledge that they must miss something or else copy the Republican platform.

But do not suppose that they will care a fig for harmony and consistence. They will do whatever they believe will catch the most votes. Their principles (?) are, at best, only mere professions, and their practices are often quite different.

The State of Trade.

Several circumstances during the past week have had a tendency to increase business confidence and through it have effected some improvment in trade. One of these was the publication of foreign trade returns of the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1886, which showed, exports, $751,880,382; imports, $673,242,027; an excess of exports of $78,638,355. While the so-called "balance of trade" is not so great as in the preceding year, it is far better than a deficiency, which the alarmists thought probable earlier in the season. The imports increased about fifty millions and the exports decreased thirty millions compared with the previous year. The above figures include the specie movement for the year, which was $72,454,410 exports and $37,988,421 imports.—Pittsburg Gazette.

This paper was not one of the "alarmists" which predicted an excess of imports. We believed that the people were too poor to import much, and the fact that imports have gained on exports is to us a matter of serious concern. Why should such a state of affairs exist in a year when the people have been poorer than before for a quarter of a century?

It impresses us with the fact that there is a class of people who do not know what it is to be forced to economize and who are, at the same time, entirely devoid of that sense of patriotism which leads them to patronize home enterprise and industry.

WOLFE seems to be laboring earnestly to kill the Prohibition party.

Sensational Trash.

What disreputable stuff is being published in the newspapers! The social scandals, each day, constitute one of the most conspicuous parts of the news. As these are enlarged upon, either by developments in court or by fresh charges, the details are spread before an open-eyed, devouring public. One scandal is not completed before another begins and frequently several of them occur together to vie with each other in attractiveness.

From over the ocean the details of the divorce suit of Crawford vs. Crawford was wafted by wire. The sensation of the century, people called it and English justice was, in this instance, unerring enough to cover with the most degrading obloquy the head of a titled monster of evil, and he is about to leave his ancestral towers to seek solace in Southern France.

On this side of the Atlantic two ministers hold the fort as rivals in the sensation world. To be sure, each of these gentlemen denies that he is guilty of the charges laid at his door, and innocence should be presupposed until guilt is proven. But Messararos in Philadelphia and Downs in Boston are the topics of columns of stuff in the newspapers. The REPUBLICAN don't keep its readers supplied with the details because such news cannot be of much interest and certainly of no profit to pure-minded people.

On Saturday a Brooklyn bootblack named Brodie and aged 23 years, was the sensation of the day because he leaped 124 feet from Brooklyn bridge into East river. This feat, while not so impure in its details, is scarcely less hurtful in the lessons it teaches. The press is doing a fearful wrong in giving such persons such great notoriety.

JUDGE TOURGEE'S "Fool's Errand" is forcibly suggested by the tales of outlawry that come from Mississippi. Respected citizens and even officers of the law are members of the modern Ku Klux Klan. The methods made notorious by the Congressional investigations pursued during President Grant's administrations seems to have been revived by our latter day Regulators. Negroes have been killed or whipped whenever the local organization of the oligarchy has declared them "sassy," and those whites who would treat the blacks differently are threatened with death, or the destruction of their property. Despatches state that such whites, too, are often ordered to leave the neighborhood of their residences. The story takes a turn that Judge Tourgee never dreamed of. One of the gang has turned traitor and eleven have been arrested on the charge of going masked at night, breaking into the houses of negroes, whipping and shooting. The bail was fixed at $250! With the terrible affair at Carrollton fresh in mind, in which negroes were murdered in the court house itself, one hardly dares hope that the culprits will experience the punishment they so thoroughly deserve. The old feeling of indignation with which self-respecting citizens have regarded these outrages is now deepened with the despair of the progress of those sections that permit such indignities without even the show of legal inquiry.

THE Chairman of the Greenback-Labor State Committee is now being overhauled. The more conspicuous and trustworthy members of the party, such as Armstrong, of Pittsburgh, are not at all pleased with the fact that the Convention is called for the same day and place as the Democratic Convention. They claim that it offers the appearance of a bargain, and it must be said that just that suspicion has attached to it. The desire is that the Convention shall be put of for a week, and that the ominous character of the call shall be modified. As the call was originally made with the sole purpose of helping Congressman Curtin to get the Democratic nomination for Governor, and as there is little left of that hope, it is probable that Chairman Rynder will oblige his own party, even if he should disappoint the Democrats, by laying his Convention over for a time. —Philadelphia Press.

MR. NORMAN L. MUNRO'S proposition to race his steam yacht against Jay Gould's, the loser to give $10,0000 to the poor of New York, is provoking a good deal of ridicule in that city. It seems to have been an unsuccessful and rather hopeless effort to betray Jay Gould into philanthropy.

Legislators' Salaries.

In these times when statisticians display such a lavish fondness for comparing the present wages with those of former years, why is it that they never think to compare the salaries of legislators? If we may judge these gentlemen by the salaries they receive we must all conclude that they agree with great unanimity in favor of the very highest pay for service.

Whoever heard of a legislator making a move to reduce his own salary? He will prate about taxation, hard times, etc., but the measure of economy in the reduction of the salaries of these servants of the people never occurs to his mind.

When we hear of a legislator suggesting the reduction of his own salary we shall conclude that the great millennium is dawning. The very intimation that such an idea exists in his mind will be sufficient to convince us that things terrestrial have reached the final stage of their existence. A feeling of perfect, subdued happiness will pervade our being and we shall rejoice. When will the millennium come?

"Ollo" Again.

The Senate did a very foolish thing when it reduced the proposed tax on oleomargarine from 5 to 2 cents per pound, and the House did an equally absurd action in agreeing to it. Two wrongs don't make a right. Two cents per pound is not sufficient to protect the farmers from competition with this horrible compound.

We are in favor of preventing its manufacture entirely, but as there seemed no hope of accomplishing that desired result, we advocated a tax which would render its manufacture unprofitable. But the legislators, in their work on this bill, have illustrated their ability to waste time and accomplish nothing. As the bill now stands it is apparently worthless, and we do not care whether or not the President affixes his signature.

THE feeling among the fishermen of Portland, it is said, runs in favor of "private retaliation" on the Canadians for seizing the New England boats, if the Government does not grant "public retaliatory measures." The Portland people have a direct interest in the matter, and are apt to take extreme and hasty views. It is the public impression throughout the country that an understanding needs to be arrived at with Canada, such as will prevent future harassing and annoyance of American fisherman—but there is no general desire to go to war upon the point, or provoke additional trouble. The resources of statesmanship in England and the United States ought to be sufficient to compose the difficulty in a manner beneficial and satisfactory to both sides.

IF General Beaver or any prominent Republican had gone to a Sunday School Convention and introduced his pecular political opinions and attempted to use the occasion to further his own interest, there would have gone up a howl of righteous indignation from the Democratic press. Yet Charles Wolfe, the prospective Prohibition candidate for Governor, uses the William's Grove Sunday School Assembly to advance his peculiar views—and we shall probably not hear a word of censure from his Democratic friends to whose cause he is acting as a tender.

THE Democratic party is a free trade party. The great bulk of the party in congress favors low duties on imported goods and a constant reduction in workingmen's wages in this country. There is no getting over this fact. The individual Democrats who are favorable to protection to American industries, will either have to swing their brethren over to their side or come themselves out of the Democratic ranks into the Republican party, the only protection party in the country.

THE trial of the Keely motor in Philadelphia Saturday was a big success. We don't understand the affair, but he describes the power as nothing else than the "sympathy of sound." He believes that by it the trip to Europe can be made in less than two days, and says if he draws the bow of his violin once and bottles up the sound, with the aid of the necessary small tubes underground, he can run all the machinery in every factory in Philadelphia.

STEPHEN BRODIE, a drunken bootblack, jumped from the Brooklyn bridge into East river, on Friday last. He was fished out of the river apparently unhurt.

Poetry.

YESTERDAY.

Yesterday, darling—only yesterday,
The heavens were bright, and all the earth was fair;
Love's golden radiance fell upon our way,
Love's dreamy music filled the scented air;
A thousand wild flowers trembled round our feet,
We saw the lilac boughs above us sway;
And heard the woodlark singing high and sweet,
Yesterday, darling—only yesterday.

Yesterday, darling—only yesterday,
With lips apart and hair of russet brown,
You came, dear heart, across the flower-decked way,
Sweeping the grasses with your trailing gown;
Upon your cheek there was a wild-rose glow,
And in your eyes there was a sunset ray;
You came with arms outstretched—you loved me so,
Yesterday, darling—only yesterday.

Yesterday, darling—only yesterday;
A soft breeze stealing from the sunny South
Blew from your brow the tangled fringe away,
And wooed the kisses from your crimson mouth;
The boughs caressed you as you came along,
The red sun kissed you with its parting ray,
The woodlark praised you in his happy song,
Yesterday, darling—only yesterday.

Yesterday, darling—only yesterday,
Ah, me! ah, me! but yesterday is—dead;
The flower still shines across the flower-decked way
And still the woodlark warbles overhead;
But in the shadows of a great despair,
I weep, dear heart, upon the weary way,
For love's bright dream, that made the earth so fair
Yesterday, darling—only yesterday.

A SEASIDE ROMANCE BLIGHTED.

BEFORE TAKING.

Oh, I never can forget her!
Running down the beach I met her
Coming from the big hotel.
Such a witching, dainty creature!
Half the charm of form and feature
Living man could never tell.

In a bathing costume, blushing
Just a little, she was rushing
To the cool, inviting sea.
How I envied you, old Ocean,
As I vowed that my devotion
Hers alone should ever be.

AFTER TAKING.

Oh, I never can forget her!
Running up the beach I met her
Hastening to the big hotel.
Such a draggled, dripping creature!
Salty drops on every feature—
Who would know the washed-out belle!

In the bathing costume blushing
With good reason she was rushing
Where no hateful man could see.
How I swore at you, old Ocean!
For I felt that my devotion
Hers henceforth could never be.

A SEASIDE FLIRTATION.

Again they have met for the season
Brave Harold and fair Leonore,
Impelled by the old cogent reason
They stroll by the sea as of yore.
They wonder, so quickly time passes
And days into fortnights expand,
Forgotten are all the old lasses—
He presses her hand

"I trust," he speaks low, "you remember
That day by the shimmering sea—
The words that I spoke last September,
The last that you whispered to me."
"The time I recall," and she blushes;
"You spoke in a low undertone,
We stood, I believe, by the rushes,
But—the words, dear, have flown."

"No wonder"—a storm now is brewing—
"My words you may fail to recall,
A fool interrupted my wooing—
Remember? That fellow named Hall?"
She answeres in voice soft and mellow:
"And that, Mr. Brown, is not all—
That man you call 'fool' and a 'fellow'
I married last fall."

THE WIND.

I saw you toss the kites on high
And blow the birds about the sky;
And all around I heard you pass
Like ladies' skirts across the grass—
O wind, a-blowing all day long,
O wind, that sings so loud a song!

I saw the different things you did,
But always you yourself you hid,
I felt you push, I heard you call,
I could not see yourself at all—
O wind, a-blowing all day long,
O wind, that sings so loud a song!

O you that are so strong and cold,
O blower, are you young or old?
Are you a beast of field and tree,
Or just a stronger child than me?
O wind, a-blowing all day long,
O wind, that sings so loud a song.

Our Story Teller.

A RIVAL'S SLANDER.

"So you have really become smitten with that pretty little Miss Amory? Upon my word, Colonel Playfair, I was beginning to imagine that you were entirely proof against the arrows of the little blind God."

Aurora Moore spoke in playful accents, but there was very little sportiveness in the dark sparkle of her large black eyes, or the quiver of her red lip as she looked up into Colonel Playfair's face.

She was a brunette—tall, handsome and distingue looking, with cheeks of peachy bloom, and purple-dark hair rippling away from her olive forehead in graceful carelessness; and Colonel Playfair, looking down upon her, owned to himself that Aurora was very handsome. And yet he did not feel at all disposed to fall in love with the star-eyed brunette—perhaps because his heart was already ensnared in another direction.

"And when is the wedding to be?" went on Aurora, with pretty audacity.

"Whose wedding, Miss Moore?"

"Why, yours, with Bertha Amory?"

"I am quite unaware of any such arrangements."

"Ah, then popular rumor is at fault!" He smiled.

"First tell me, Miss Aurora, what popular rumor says."

"That you are very much in love with Bertha's violet-blue eyes and auburn hair."

"Miss Amory is very beautiful," he said evasively.

"But you're not engaged to her? Really, Colonel Playfair, that is such a relief to my mind!"

"I am too much honored by Miss Moore's interest."

"No," said Aurora, winningly laying one white hand on Colonel Playfair's arm, "but please allow me to explain. You know the sisterly feeling I have ever felt toward you?"

Playfair bowed coldly, there was certainly something more than sisterly in the soft brightness of the midnight dark eyes that were looking into his.

"And although Bertha Amory seems so innocent and ingenuous, she is very far from the person I should wish to see your wife."

"Miss Moore, this is rather a vague accusation to make."

"In plain words, then, Colonel Playfair, she is selfish, deceitful and treacherous!"

Philip Playfair's swarthy cheek had paled, he bit his lip until the blood started. Had Aurora Moore been a man he would have promptly knocked him down, then and there; as she was only a beautiful woman, fair and fragile as a butterfly, he sat still like a carved statue.

"Do not imagine that I judge rashly," she said without taking her white hand from his arm. "Only I am too much interested in your welfare longer to preserve silence."

"What proofs have you to allege, Miss Moore."

"You are aware of her father's extreme poverty, and that Bertha gives music lessons to help in defraying the household expenses?"

"I know that Mr Amory struggles hard to obtain a livelihood."

"Under those circumstances it is certainly advisable for Bertha to adapt her dress to the family funds."

"She does, I believe."

"I beg your pardon, Col. Playfair. I saw her at Mrs. Moodie's last night, with a three hundred dollar silk robe on, and a set of pearls that must have cost three hundred more, at the very least."

"Surely you are mistaken, Miss Moore. Mr. Amory is very heavily in debt, and it would scarcely be seemly."

"Of course not, but did I not tell you that she was selfish and treacherous? Poor Mr. Amory! to say nothing of her reckless disregard for the feelings of his creditors, it must have deprived the family of many necessaries to enable her to shine in silks and jewels."

And Aurora heaved a graceful sigh.

Philip Playfair sat silent, with a painful feeling at his heart. If Bertha Amory was selfish and heartless, in whom could he put his trust? And while Aurora prattled on, at his side, he was silently burying away in the innermost depths of his nature the love that had grown up so strong and tender during the past two weeks.

"You will be sure to come?" were the first words that reached his ear in anything like coherent shape.

He started.

"I beg your pardon, Miss Moore; what were you asking me?"

Aurora broke into a little peal of musical laughter.

"Only to honor mamma and me with your presence at our soiree next Monday night."

"Thank you; but I shall leave for Europe on Saturday."

Aurora started and the roses died away from the satiny olive of her round cheek. She had only intended to wile Philip Playfair away from Miss Amory, not to banish him from the beguiling influence of her own charms.

"Surely—surely, you will not leave us so suddenly?"

"My mind is definitely made up."

And Aurora saw that no persuasion from her lips would avail to alter his determination. Unfortunately she had overshot the mark.

* * * * * *

"Going! Harry, you must be mistaken."

"I am not mistaken, Bertha," said the boy, resolutely. "I saw his name myself in the list of passengers on the ship's books. 'Philip Morton Playfair.' He's going out in the Sidonia, as true as the world."

And little Harry Amory, who was errand-lad in a shipping establishment ran off to his dinner, leaving Bertha as white and motionless as a corpse.

"Going! To leave me!" And the blood rushed to her cheek, and brow, and throat. "After all this is unmaidenly of me—he has never spoken out his love in words, and—"

But just then pretty Bertha broke down and sobbed and wept as if her heart were broken. Could Aurora have seen her unconscious rival just then she would have triumphed indeed.

Philip Playfair was walking up and down the ship's deck wrapped in his furlined mantle, when a brown faced, burly old gentleman came up to him with an outstretched hand.

"Colonel Playfair?"

"Yes, sir."

"Happy to meet you, sir—happy to learn that we are to be fellow-passengers. I suppose you are the same Colonel Playfair that I have heard my brother John Amory speak of. I am Roger Amory, sir."

"Indeed!"

"A very interesting family, that of my brother, sir," went on the loquacious old gentleman; "but Bertha's my favorite. Pretty girl, isn't she?"

"Very, sir."

"And the sweetest, self-denying little puss! She just sacrifices herself to the welfare of the rest of the family, sir. Do you believe that while I was there last week she was invited to a big party given by some woman or other—Mrs. Moodie, I believe, was the name—and she was going to stay at home just because she wouldn't tax her father for money to buy a dress. And so, sir, I went down town and got her a dress, and a set of pearls besides, to remember her old uncle by. What's the use of money to an old fellow like me, if it can't help to make my little niece happy? But, halloa! where are you going? Don't you know the ship sails in less than fifteen minutes?"

Philip Playfair's cheek was flushed and his eyes brilliant.

"I—I have decided not to sail in the Sidonia."

"But your passage money is paid."

"I don't care a fig for my passage money!"

And Colonel Playfair just reached the ladder in time to be the last passenger that went ashore from the goodly steamer Sidonia.

On Monday evening Miss Aurora was much surprised by the appearance of Colonel Playfair at the soiree—nor was he alone.

"My dear colonel, I thought you were gone to Europe."

"No. I concluded instead to remain in New York and get married."

"Married!"

"Allow me to introduce my wife."

And Aurora mechanically bowed to the lovely golden-haired girl who was leaning on Philip's arm, in a soft mist of white lace and glimmering satin; while round her fair neck shone the identical pearls on whose foundation Aurora Moore had raised up such a tissue of falsehood.

Truth had prevailed, and golden-haired Bertha was serenely happy in her bride-hood.

An Attractive Locality in the Northwest.

The following well written letter from a gentleman who formerly lived in this part of Pennsylvania will be read with interest:

MOUNTAIN CITY, MONTANA TER.,
June 30, 1886.

Isaac Haupt, Esq., Bellefonte, Pa.

DEAR SIR:—Your valued favor of 21st inst., to hand. I cheerfully comply with your request to give you a discription of the country, &c., so far as I am able in the short time which I have spent here, but do not feel competent to give you much information in regard to the country in general, as I have not traveled over much of the territory. I reached here on the 26th of April after a tiresome journey of nearly three thousand miles, occupying a week's time, traveling day and night. The ride over the Northern Pacific R. R, from St. Paul to Thompson Falls (a small town on Clark's fork of the Columbia river and our nearest point to the railroad,) though somewhat tiresome, is not devoid of interest and the excellent facilities for comfort and convenience with which the company furnish their passenger trains makes the journey a real pleasure. I was not very favorably impressed with the greater portion of Minnesota, Dakota and eastern Montana, through which the road passes, as it lies too low and flat to suit my fancy, although there is as fine country some places along the route as any one could desire to live in; but when you get out on the wide plains of Dakota where you can see for miles in every direction, with nothing to relieve the monotony of the scene except small bunches of farm buildings at long distances apart, and no sign of timber except a few stunted cotton-wood trees here and there bordering some small stream, it seems to me too much like being at sea and out of sight of land; and although there is no question about the wonderful fertility of the soil (of which the huge piles of straw on every farm give ample evidence,) yet I think a home on one of those vast prairies would have but few charms for me, no matter how rich the soil or how tall the grain grew. As you get further west, however, the phase of the country changes and the scenery becomes more diversified and picturesque, especially along the valley of the Yellow Stone, where nature has certainly embellished the vast landscape with a lavish hand; and as you still advance westward and commence the ascent of the foot hills bordering the Rocky Mountains, the view in some places is almost grand beyond description. But I had almost forgotten to give you any information about the country in which I am at present located. Mountain City is a mining camp in the Coeur DeAlene Mountains, west of the Rocky Mountain range, on the extreme western border of Montana and less than one hundred miles from British Columbia. The climate here in the valleys in the summer-time is delightful, being neither too hot nor too cold for comfort and pleasure; and while the sun shines quite hot through the day, the air is always pure and cool as soon as the sun goes down; and although you need woolen blankets to sleep comfortably in doors all through the summer season, the air is so pure and dry that one can take a pair of blankets (as many do who are driving team and running pack trains, and lay down out of doors and sleep quite comfortably.

The tops of the highest mountains are covered with snow most all the year, and it seems odd to one not accustomed to it while weltering in the heat of a hot June day in the valley to look upon the mountain, only a few miles distant, and see the sun shining brightly on eight or ten feet of snow. It is quite warm here to-day, but I can look out of the open door as I write and see the snow glistening on the peaks of Bald mountain eight thousand feet above sea level and distant from here only five or six miles. The mountain streams are kept pure and cold all summer by the melting of the snow on the summits, and the water in the valleys is consequently pure and excellent for use the entire year. Mining and stock raising is the principal business in this section. The wild grass grows in abundance, both in the valleys and almost up to the snow line on the mountains, and notwithstanding the northern latitude in which the country lies the winters are generally mild on account of the warm "chinook" winds from the Pacific coast, and stock will live in most of the valleys through the entire winter without feed.

The country is said to be very rich in mineral deposits. There are quite a number of veins of different kinds of ore opened already in this section and they are still discovering new ones. The mines yield principally gold and silver, generally mixed to some extent with some baser metal. There are also several antimony mines near here, which are pronounced by experts to be very valuable, and a Minneapolis company are about putting up a concentrater and smelting furnace at this place to convert the ore into bullion. They also expect to treat other ores, of which there is an abundance in this region. The mines are generally in an undeveloped state, being principally in the hands of the first discoverers, who lack the capital to develop them, and consequently cannot arrive at any definite conclusion as to their value; but some have already been sold at pretty fair figures, and the indications are that there will be considerable capital invested in mining in this country in the near future, and from what I have been able to learn of the prospects and present development of the country, I know of no place on the continent that offers a better chance for a man with ready money than this section of country. There are plenty of openings here in different kinds of business for a man with a few thousand dollars in cash. But I would not advise laboring men to come here, for although wages are good (averaging about $3.00 to $3.50 per day), the supply of laborers seems to exceed the demand all the time, and as it costs about $1.00 a day to live here, the man out of employment is soon on the rocks.

I expect to go over into Idaho in a few weeks, but will probably return soon and make this place my headquarters this summer, as I have some interests here, and as soon as the smelter gets in operation we expect to boom in business generally and in mining interests especially. Property is advancing in value quite rapidly in our camp. Eight hundred dollars was refused for a one-story round log house (kept as a hotel), yesterday, that I had a chance of buying six weeks ago for three hundred; but mining towns, like oil towns, are of spasmodic growth, and property worth one hundred dollars one month may sell for ten times that amount the next, and perhaps inside of the year be abandoned altogether as worth nothing. The land here is covered with a splendid growth of pine, fir, spruce, cedar, tamorack, &c., which will undoubtedly be valuable at no distant day, but at present no value is attached to it, as it is all unsurveyed government land and is within the limits of the Northern Pacific land grant.

But I must close as my letter is already too long. With best wishes, &c., I am,

Very truly yours,
Z. L. HOOVER.

A Profitable Trip.

Meekly—How do you feel this morning, Mrs. Grindham?

Mrs. Grindham—Poorly, Mr. Meekly; poorly. I think this work of keeping a boarding-house is breaking me down. I seem to be growing weaker and weaker every day.

Meekly—Well, you need a change of air.

Mrs. Grindham—I know it. I think I'll go to Kansas; it will make me stronger.

Smilkins (from the end of the table)—I think it will do the coffee good to go with you, Mrs. G.

Have you heard Miss Simpson sing since she returned from Europe?" "Several times," "Do you think she has improved?" She doesn't sing as much as she used to."

An American Tells how they do it in "Yurrip."

"Yes, I've been in Yurrip," said an elder-passenger, "and they have some curious customs over there—some that seem purty strange to us Americans. An' then again' they heve some that heve evidently been borrowed from this country. For instance: I was taking a trip by stage coach in Italy one day—me an' some more tourists—when a parcel of ugly-looking men, wearing masks over their faces, stopped the kerridge an' put up a few guns an' said we had to give 'em a lot of money 'fore we could travel any further on that road."

"But we've paid for our passage already," said the man sittin' next to me.

"No matter," replied the swarthy man with the gun, "fifty lire all around, please."

And we had to whack up, too. Didn't mind the money so much as I did the insolence of the cusses. Just compare their brutal way to the delicate politeness of our sleeping-car porters in America. Of course the furriners borrowed that idea from the Pullman porters, but just see how the loafers bungle it up when they try to play it. It takes an American for true politeness, after all.

That "Insuppressible" Question.

Well, now brethren, I'll say this to you: We never would let politics mix up with the temperance cause and prohibition movement in the South. We just mix prohibition with politics. Do you get the idea? * * * *

I tell you all to-day that prohibition mixed with politics will help politics, but God bless you, don't you put any politics in your prohibition. If you do you are gone.

You see I put sugar in my coffee to help my coffee, but if you put your coffee in your sugar your sugar is ruined. * * *

When you go to vote against whiskey, you just vote the plain issue, straight out, and then when you can poll enough votes on that question to show the polititians you mean business, the next thing you hear the polititians will do any thing you want done.

That is a fact. But you go now and try to run in your prohibition candidate. Why, every Democrat in the country's got his slevees rolled up for the fight, and the Republicans have got their sleeves rolled up and they are ready for the fight." Rev. Sam Jone's speech at Concord July 5th, 1886.

The above is the declaration of a man who has been there, and "knows how it is himself."

As for another illustration of this idea, I will use Rev. Jones' language and logic to another familiar subject, upon the assumption that "Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people."

"I will tell you, brethren, Christianity mixed with politics will help politics, but, God bless you, don't put any politics in your Christianity or you are gone."

The force of these illustrations will be admitted by every one who has given the subject and its history a moment's serious consideration. They have been proven to a demonstration during the agitation of the prohibition movement in this country in late years.

Prohibition of the liquor traffic cannot go into the constitution as a party measure.

The Organic law of the State and Nation, ought to have the support of patriotic citizens of all parties. The only way to secure this is to avoid attempting to thrust platforms into the constitution. Like the common school system it touches interests too vital to the common good to be made the football of politicians.

But there is a realm of principle beyond the confines and conflicts of parties, where the moral character of the government rests upon the foundation of right, and to that broader realm of essential right this question must come.

Another serious objection to the party feature is that it renders it inexpedient and improper for the churches, and all other non-partisan societies and organizations, to take an active part in the advocacy of the cause that is desirable.

Wise management will hold it where where appeal can be made to men and women to support it regardless of party, on the ground of morality, humanity and public good, remembering that a major part of the real legislation of the country is non-partisan in its character. It is a mistake to suppose that this measure must have a political party behind it to make it successful.

There was a row between an eminent vocal teacher and one of his pupils recently. After receiving a severe lecture on the sin of flatting in pitch, the student assaulted his master. In court it was proven that the singer was at least a minor third below pitch, for the teacher said pathetically, "I told him to strike sol, but he struch me."

"There," said Mrs. Highflyer, as her daughter ceased from torturing one of the high-numbered "ops" of Beethoven, 'that's what I call a finished performance, eh, Mr. Jones?" And Mr. Jones nodded and said, "Thank Heaven!" Yet Mrs. Highflyer was not pleased with the assent.

"I've a perfect antipathy for the mountains," said Mrs. Gush to Mrs. Parvenu as they sat talking together on the summer hotel piazza. "Have you?" said Mrs. Parvenu; "well, I've an Alpin stick, and the man said it was just the thing; but I'm sorry now I didn't buy an antipathy like yours."

"Henry!" exclaimed Mrs. F. to the heir of the Fogg family's fortune; "Henry, I say! you must not play those tunes today. Don't you know it is Sunday?" "Oh, let him alone," remarked Fogg from the folds of the newspaper, in which he had been buried all the forenoon; "what's the difference? Nobody'll know whether he's playing dancing tunes—unless they've got a plaguey sight better ear for music than I have."

Two Passenger Trains Collide.

PITTSBURG, July 23.—Two passenger trains on the Panhandle railroad collided this afternoon near Fernwood station. Both trains were badly wrecked and a number of train men seriously injured, but none of the passengers were hurt. The names of the injured were: John Shae, engineer, badly cut about the head and breast; John Miller, conductor, several ribs broken; Michael Cairns, express messenger, skull fractured and injured internally; John Athay, fireman, cut and bruised; Wm. Harrison, brakeman, cut about the head and breast. All will recover but Cairns who it is thought will die. The escape of the passengers is regarded as remarkable, as the trains were running at a rate of twenty-five miles an hour when the accident happened. The passengers were transferred to another train and arrived here almost two hours late. The loss to the railroad company will be very heavy.

The Senate and House.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The house today concurred in the senate amendments to the oleomargerine bill and it now goes to the president for his action.

Mr. Miller, from the conference committee on the river and harbor bill, reported a disagreement. Willis desired to test the sense of the house upon the new features of the bill insisted on by the senate, but pending a resolution to this effect, a further conference was ordered.

Mr. Herbert submitted the conference report on the naval appropriation bill and it was agreed to. The house then took a recess, the evening session to be for the consideration of pension bills.

Upon the conclusion of the debate in the senate the majority report of the committee on privileges and elections requesting to be discharged from further consideration of the Payne case was agreed to; yeas 44, nays 17. There was slight applause when the result was announced. The senate then resumed the consideration of the sundry civil bill, but without completing it took a recess until 8 o'clock.

Keely's Big Engine Goes.

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—Inventor John W. Keely yesterday afternoon, in the presence of a large number of capitalists and experts, many of whom were from New York, gave a successful exhibition of the power and usefulness of the new vibratory engine, which has just been completed at his workshops, 1421 North Twentieth street. All the tests were satisfactory, and [illegible] men present left at the conclusion of the demonstration in an exceedingly happy frame of mind.

The engine which was experimented with is of 250 horse power. It lifted weights representing a pressure of 20,000 pounds and caused a fly-wheel to revolve with a velocity of 150 revolutions a minute. The experiment lasted for one hour and a half, and at its close the delighted witnesses gave three cheers for the inventor.

An Anarchist Den Broken Up.

CHICAGO, July 23.—Thomas Grief, the alleged anarchist saloon-keeper at No. 54 West Lake street, has at last been vanquished. After the riots in May his license to sell liquor was annulled, and he protested against the action of the authorities. He continued to sell liquor over his bar without a license until arrested, when Justice Scully had to fine him $50 on two different occasions. He then secured a delegation to visit the mayor and interpose in his behalf, but without avail. On Tuesday an attachment was taken out by a firm of wholesale liquor dealers fer a debt of $56, and a constable had hardly taken possession before a brewer appeared with a bill of sale which Grief had made to him. The brewer took possession on a replevin under the bill of sale and the notorious den of the anarchists will soon be broken up.

That New Cabinet.

LONDON, July 23.—An effort is now being made to induce Earl Carnarvon to accept the position of Viceroy of Ireland with Lord Charles Beresford as chief secretary with the two-fold object of showing that the conservatives do not intend to propose coercion, but will back Ulster in her opposition to home rule. Lord Carnarvon will without doubt decline to return to Dublin castle, but it is quite certain that he will maintain, whether he does or not, his own conviction that Ireland is sadly in need of real reform in the methods of her local government. Political interest really centres in the Irish appointments and compared with the gossip anent these very little is said about the probable occupants of their offices. Lord Salisbury's choice is virtually limited to perhaps six peers who could or would serve in the capacity of lord lieutenant.

Gas Can't Kill a Mayor.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Mayor Grace has been visiting Mr. Marcellus Hartley at West Orange, N. J., during the past week, and on Tuesday night an accident happened which might have had serious results. During the night the chandelier in the room where Mr. Grace was sleeping fell, and the broken pipe poured a flood of gas into the apartment. The noise of the crash awoke him and thus he escaped the peril of suffocation.

An Incendiary Fire.

MIDDLETOWN, Pa., July 24.—The large saw mill owned by the Middletown Water company, and later operated by Kendig & Lauman, was totally destroyed by fire last night. The amount of the loss is not ascertained. The fire was undoubtedly of incendiary origin, as the mill has not been in operation for some months.

On the Mexican Border.

EL PASO, Texas, July 25.—The most intense excitement prevails on both sides of the Rio Grande over the Cutting imbroglio. Travelers coming in from the northern states of Mexico report the war feeling running high. Especially in the city of Chihauhau is the military spirit at fever heat. On this side of the river bands of excited men are discussing the plan of organizing and arming and marching across the Rio Grande, capturing the town of Paso Del Norte and liberating Cutting by force from the loathsome den in which he is confined. The garrison of Mexican soldiers of Paso Del Norte has been increased to three hundred men, and it is learned that two thousand more are on the way from Chihauhau and the city of Mexico. Threats of assassination are being made among the Mexicans against Consul Brigham and the American editor in El Paso. It is freely threatened also by the Mexican populace that Cutting will never be given up alive.

Notwithstanding the popular excitement, the situation is really a little more pacific. Manuel Ricon, private secretary to F. F. Macegera, governor of Chihuahua, has arrived at Paso Del Norte and assured the consul that he was there to hasten Cuttin's trial, and urged the consul to use his influence with Cutting to induce the latter to give bail, a privilege which was only granted him last night at midnight. Judge Brigham replied: "Cutting's case has now passed beyond my control. It has gone beyond the control of any court and beyond the control of the governor of Chihuahua. It rests now solely between the government of the United States and the government of Mexico. My government has demanded the instant unconditional release of this man, and to release him on bail would not be unconditional. I cannot advise him to give bail."

And so the matter rests, awaiting instructions from Washington or Mexico. Captain Drum, commandant at Fort Bliss, Texas, hears unofficially that all available American soldiers in the southwest are ordered to El Paso and is expecting orders hourly. Paso Del Norte is virtually under martial law. It is known that Mexico has definitely refused to comply with the peremptory demand by the United States for Cutting's instant and unconditional surrender.

Medina, the man who originally caused Cutting's arrest, has been arrested for threatening the American consul and is now in the same prison as Cutting. He was placed in cell No. 7, while Cutting is confined in cell No. 6, adjoining. Cutting was very much disappointed that Medina was not put in the same cell with him, and tried to bribe the jailer to put them together, but without avail as that functionary apprehended violence in case he should comply. The Mexican authorities are very much put out about the bad break that Medina made in assaulting the American consul and express regret that he has thus prejudiced their case. Friday Consul Brigham modified his previous report, and said that Medina did not abuse him, but his secretary only.

A Terrific Storm.

GRAFTON, Dak., July 23.—A very disastrous storm occurred Saturday in the region adjacent to St. Thomas. The clouds gathered with all their force over the village of St. Thomas, where, after a [illegible]nder clap, dust and shingles being carried through the air, the storm broke in two parts, one traveling westward and the other part journeying eastward. The storm destroyed everything in its path from St. Thomas across the Red river into Minnesota, four to six miles in width and fully thirty miles in length. Thousands of acres of grain are totally destroyed. A young son of a farmer by the name of Dunbar started out on horseback just previous to the storm and he has not been seen since. His horse arrived home after the storm bleeding from cuts caused by the hailstones.

The village of St. Andrews was damaged, the hailstones tearing through the shingles, breaking the sashes and panes of glass. A farmer by the name of Jackson, in Martin township, was haying with the hired man as the storm broke over them. Before the hired man could gain shelter he was struck by a hailstone and seriously injured. Mr. Jackson, after considerable effort, dragged him under the hay wagon and saved his life. The hailstones were as large as hen's eggs. It is estimated that fully one-third of the grain has been destroyed by hail within the past month in Walsh county alone. The damage from this last storm is incalculable at the present time, but will fully reach half a million dollars. Many of the farmers will be left entirely destitute. Without doubt it was the worst that has occurred in this section of the valley.

Another dispatch from Maysville, Dakota, says: The heaviest hail storm which ever visited this section occured Friday about 5 o'clock, which destroyed thousands of acres of the best wheat in Dakota. The storm extended along the Goose river, striking the very best country in Dakota, extending from a mile north of this place to about five miles south, and extending northwest about twenty miles. It is impossible to give any correct estimate of loss, but it is safe to say that not less than 25,000 acres will be a total loss, while a great deal was only partial. Several men working in a field were seriously injured by hail stones. Crops in the vicinity of Golden Lakes were entirely wiped out. The destruction in the path of the storm is complete. Six miles south of Maysville is a tract eight or nine miles square on which not a straw is left standing where a few days ago stood wheat promising thirty bushels per acre."

—The new school building will be a neat structure, utilizing all the space in a remarkable way and admitting abundance of light. The plans and specifications are now to be seen in D. F. Fortney's law office. It is desirable to give out the contract and commence the erection of the building as soon as possible. Many people seem disposed to grumble that the location is so near the township line, but it is too late to avoid that now, and it is useless to cry over spilt milk. Then perhaps John Bartruff will put that five cent hack on the road by the time the building is completed and make regular [illegible]

Abraham Lincoln.

Among recent facts of literary and popular interest, is the announcement of a new illustrated biography entitled "The Every-Day Life of Abraham Lincoln," written by "Those who knew him." The plan of the work is that of an exhaustive biography, giving not only the general facts of his life in chronological order, but incidents, anecdotes and every day facts minutely personal, such as could only be given by those in closest intimate and confidential relations, during the various periods of his life. These were, in pursuance of the plan, enlisted for the work, embracing those who knew him as a boy, as a flat-boatman, a rail-splitter, a clerk in a country store, a law student, a lawyer, politician, President--every period of his eventful and most interesting life. Each author writes of the facts of his life during the period in which he knew him—facts and incidents that came under his own observation and within his own knowledge. A book thus written, and so exhaustive in fact concerning one who holds so enduring a place in the hearts and admiration of his people is assured of enthusiastic welcome and a lasting place in popular esteem. We are told that the last literary work performed by the late Judge David Davis, Lincoln's lifetime friend, was one of the many contributions to this volume, in which he took a deep personal interest.

It is a grand career and character that is thus so minutely delineated. What lover of simple worth and homely virtues is not touched by the story of Lincoln's pure and manly life? In what other country could it have been possible to produce a character and career like his?

The work is rendered further attractive by nearly 100 superb engravings from original designs made especially for this book, illustrating scenes and incidents in his life. It is sold at popular prices within the reach of all.

The canvassing agent for such a work will find the latch-string out, a welcome and patronage that will make his business both pleasant and profitable. N. D. Thompson Publishing Co., St. Louis, Mo., and New York City, are the enterprising publishers.

—About ten o'clock on Monday evening the water in Spring creek became very high. The roar caused by the fast-flowing water frightened people who lived along the banks of the usually placid stream. The rapid rise was caused by unusually heavy rains on Monday at the head of the creek. At eleven o'clock the water began to recede and by this morning had almost reached its ordinary level. This morning we heard rumors on the street to the effect that the water had entered the Watchman office and been higher than ever before. This, we are pleased to inform our readers, is not true.

—A gentleman who looked for the first time, the other day, at the patent digger operated at Scotia considers it a wonder. The digger brings up what seems a very large quantity of ore at each time and being elevated by a crane above the car the bottom is removed and the contents fills the car. The cars are thus filled with marvelous rapidity. He was also greatly interested in the way the mules are trained to step from the track and permit the cars to pass them.

—The corner stone of a new Roman Catholic church was laid Sunday in Clearfield, amid imposing ceremonies. A special train from Houtzdale brought vast throngs of people. —On Monday afternoon, during the electric storm, Mr. James Pope, one of the well-known citizens of Snow Shoe, was sitting on the railroad near the drift. How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.

As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

A Co-operative Nail Factory.

From the Pittsburg Dispatch, July 22d,

A quiet movement that will be watched with considerable interest by workingmen generally, is on foot to convert the old Beaver Falls Cutlery Works into a steel nail manufactory. The important feature of the undertaking is that it is intended to make the new concern co-operative. A number of the employes, together with certain of the stock holders and some Pittsburg nail feeders, are interested in the scheme. The Economites are the largest stockholders in the present firm, and their influence is being used to bring about the change.

The plan is not fully consummated, but it is now receiving serious attention. Some hesitancy was felt about making a nail factory of the works. This was due to the fact that a number of the leading nail factories of the country have recently greatly increased their capacity, some having nearly doubled the same. The facts concerning the industry, however, have been thoroughly looked up, and it has been about decided to carry the plan into execution. A gentleman who is interested in the undertaking said yesterday that he was satisfied the experiment would be tried, and thought it

WOULD PROVE A SUCCESS.

He said that the most important part of the movement was that it might open up an avenue for the investment of the immense surplus wealth of the Economites.

As year after year rolls around, the little band of followers of the famous Rapp is growing smaller, and it is generally understood that when the last one of the flock answers the unavoidable summons, the millions of dollars that have been collecting through many years will revert to the great State of Pennsylvania. It is also well known that the Economite idea is a co-operative one in the highest sense of the term. All of their vast possessions are held common by the faithful, for the good of all. This last movement on their part is regarded as highly significant, and should the venture prove successful there is little doubt but that others of a similar nature would follow.

The cutlery works did not fill the full measure of expectancy, though they have been in operation for many years. A great many readers of this paper will remember the trouble that arose at their works back in the latter part of the sixties, when an effort was made to introduce Chinese labor into them. The attempt ended in a miserable failure, and since then the works have not been any too prosperous. At present two or three departments are in operation, and about 50 men find employment there. The nail factory scheme will necessitate the remodeling of the buildings, and probably 400 men will find employment there. A number of the former employes of the works are also associated.

WITH THE NEW ENTERPRISE.

Mr. Thomas A. Armstrong was made acquainted with the scheme yesterday, and his opinion solicited. He said he had heard of it during the afternoon, and hoped it would be successful. A gentleman from Beaver Falls had given him the outlines of the plan, and they were substantially the same as those stated above.

He said that if the proposed factory was established, it would give the co-operative plan a great boost in this vicinity, where above all places it should be encouraged. He said of late years it had been dying out. A few co-operative stores were left, but no extensive manufacturing industries. The last large co-operative works in this vicinity, the glass factory at Sumner, had been transferred to Ohio.

He referred to the co-operative ideas of the Economites, and said that one of the great secrets of their success was the fact that they were all of one nationality, and there tastes were in harmony. He said this was also true of the Roechdale Co-operative Company, all of the members being Englishmen by birth. They are worth $15,000,000, and own immense business interests in many parts of the globe. He also added the information that Thomas W. Taylor, well known in this city, was one of the first men to put a shilling into this now immense business.

A Good story For Short Men.

From the Worcester (Mass.) Reporter,

A story is told of a youth at West Point who was bright and proficient in all his studies, but lacked by a quarter of an inch the stature required of a cadet. He had been admitted, however, with the understanding that he must be dismissed if at the end of the first year he had not grown enough to reach the standard. He did not grow, and on the night before the examination which would be fatal to his hopes he and his room mate were sadly talking of their expected separation, when a bright idea occured to the taller cadet. Seizing a broom stick he hit the little fellow two or three sharp raps on the top of the head, raising a fine lump. The next morning the boy came away from the examiners exulting in the knowledge that he had attained the full stature exacted of cadets, with at least an eight of an inch to spare.

State College Items.

Dr. and Mrs. Atherton returned last week from a trip to Cresson. The Doctor has taken another departure this week for the sea-shore.

Prof. McKee is home again from a visit to the far West.

Prof. Reeves is visiting friends in Kansas; also Prof. and Mrs. Heston.

Prof. and Mrs. Osmond returned Saturday last from Bedford Springs.

Prof. Buckout is spending the summer vacation with his mother at Oswego. His brother-in-law, Mr. Harkness, of Philadelphia, has just departed after a week's visit with his mother and sister.

Prof. Reber has returned from his summer rambles.

Prof. and Mrs. Herrick are enjoying themselves at the sea-shore.

Prof. Jackson and family with a merry band of young relatives have returned from their camping expedition at Shingletown Gap, and the numerous visitors entertained under the hospitable roof of the Jackson cottage are gradually making their adieux. Mrs. Dr. Price and Mrs. Bail, of Philadelphia, Miss Price of Chicago, and Miss Caraith, of Tennessee, have already taken their departure. Messrs. Joseph and Harry Ball, of Philadelphia, are lingering a few days longer. Mr. Fred Darlington, a nephew of Prof. Jackson, and a graduate at the recent commencement, is prolonging the hour of parting. Mr. Dugald Jackson, Fellow in Electrical Engineering, at Cornell University, is home on a visit. Messrs. Price and Willie Jackson and Murphy Small are keeping the deserted camp at Shingletown.

Miss Blanche Patterson is remaining quietly at home this summer, and adds much to the attractions of this vicinity for the many visitors at State College.

Miss Mary D. Foster is paying her home a lengthy visit, much to the satisfaction of that delightful young lady's numerous friends.

Mrs. Small and family of Harrisburg are spending the summer at State College.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins and family are at the State College Hotel.

Mr. Foster's pleasant house is rapidly nearing completion. His social wife and five pretty daughters will soon be in it, and bid their friends a cordial welcome.

The new hotel is now quite a feature of the place. Strangers will know where to go to get a "good square meal."

Mr. Glenn, the traveling photographer, has for several weeks been busily employed making indelible impressions of this country and the inhabitants thereof.

The Misses Hunter are enlarging and improving their house to a considerable extent.

The News from Howard.

The Howard M. E. Sunday-school seems to be growing in interest very rapidly and also in numbers and financial importance. Last Sunday the collection was $4.12. We consider this very good for a school of 120 pupils.

The Methodist Episcopal concert will be held on Saturday evening, August 7. The programme consists of songs, essays, recitations, etc. Admission free. A collection will be taken for the benefit of the Sunday-school. The music to be used will be fresh and of the best. It will be from "Leslie's Joy Bells of Heaven," than which there is no better music book for Sunday-schools. The public are cordially invited to what will be an enjoyable entertainment.

Rev. Owen Hicks, of Duncansville, was in town last week on business and made a call to see his numerous friends. He looks well and his work in D. is prosperous. He is now erecting a parsonage, to be completed by November.

Mr. Long has concluded to construct his mill of the old brick, as that will be most economical plan he could adopt. Workmen are now cleaning out the rubbish and getting ready for business.

Some of the Democrats do not seem to do exactly as the Mugwumps want them to do. Oh, says Mr. Mugwump, you promised to do so and so. "No," answers the Democrat, "I did not promise you any thing of the kind, and do not thank you for the votes you have given me." This treatment seems like being beaten on the home run. Well, a man may still learn, even if he is a Mugwump. ALERT.

THERE are disputes north and south, and the possibilities are that before we are through, we may have to teach a lesson to both Canada and Mexico. We have whipped both of them before under much less favorable circumstances. In the former little trouble with Mexico we won every battle. Does she want us to again march direct to the Halls of the Montezumas,—or, rather, of President Diaz, as we believe they should now be named?

EDITOR'S TABLE.

HON. WM. D. KELLEY ON ELLSWORTH'S ASSASSINATION,—The Graphic News, of the 24th inst., will contain a highly interesting article by Hon. W. D. Kelley, the father of the House of Representatives, upon the "Assassination of Ellsworth." The noted statesman handles the thrilling subject in a most entertaining manner, and rehearses for the first time many hitherto unknown incidents in connection with the sad event. The article will be a most valuable addition to the history of those trying times, the well known integrity of Mr. Kelley being a most satisfying proof of the truthfulness of the data given. It will be illustrated with pictures of the hotel in which the brave young officer lost his life; the picture of Col. Ellsworth, together with a title page of Mr. Kelley.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR AUGUST, 1886, goes out-of-doors to seek congenial topics for its readers, who are spending their vacations by the sea, among the mountains, or in country homes. The frontispiece, by Mary Hallock Foote, gives us a bright glimpse of child-life at the seaside, while the opening article, "A Rocky Mountain Hermit," by Alfred Terry Bacon, is a delightful account of a Robison Crusoe summer spent among the birds, the beasts, and the mountains of Wyoming. Of the serials "Little Lord Fauntleroy" is continued in an installment in which the plot is still further developed; "The Kelp-gatherers" find strange things cast up by the sea; and Henry Eckford, in "Wonders of the Alphabet," tells about some curious and ancient modern letter-system. There are poems, jingles, and pictures by eminent authors.

THE DORCAS Magazine again appears with many practical suggestions for beautifying the home, short, readable articles on matters pertaining to domestic economy, household hints, and trustworthy directions for knitting and crochet. A particularly useful paper, at least to needlewomen, is the one devoted to various Couching Stitches with which so much effective fancy work is now done. Mrs. Starr continues her series of articles on Home Decoration, describes a "Cosy Corner." Another interesting article is the one upon the silk industry as carried on at the Japanese village. Altogether, with its directions and hints, poems, reviews and notes, the Dorcas for July offers much valuable and entertaining reading for the needlewoman and housewife. DORCAS PUB CO., N. Y.

The five hundredth anniversary of the founding of Heidelburg University will be celebrated at Heidelburg in August of this year. A historical sketch of the old town, the Castle and the University, by Mrs. Lucy M. Mitchell, will appear in the "Midsummer Holiday" Century, the August number. Seventeen illustrations from drawings and photographs will accompany the article

Frank R. Stockton's new novelette, "The Casting Away of Mrs. Lecks and Mrs. Aleshine," which is to begin in the August Century, describes the remarkable adventures of two worthy New England women and the chronicler of the tale, who were shipwrecked and cast ashore upon a small island in the Pacific Ocean, which proved to be by no means a desert.

Medical.

PURE IS THE ABSOLUTE NECESSITY OF HEALTH. BLOOD

THE marvellous results of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA upon all humors and low conditions of the blood (as proven by the cures effected) prove it the best BLOOD MEDICINE. Such has been the success of this article at home that nearly every family in whole neighborhoods have been taking it at the same time. It eradicates scrofula, vitalizes and enriches the blood, thereby restoring and renovating the whole system. Hood's SARSAPARILLA purifies the blood. Hood's SARSAPARILLA cures dyspepsia. Hood's SARSAPARILLA cures biliousness. A peculiar point in Hood's SARSAPARILLA is that it builds up and strengthens the system, while it eradicates disease, and as nature's great assistant proves itself invaluable as a protection from diseases that originate in changes of the seasons, of climate and of life.

OUR CUSTOMERS

Express themselves as being well pleased with our

NEW SYSTEM OF DOING BUSINESS,

And as we are also pleased it is not likely that we shall ever do a

Big Profit and Long Credit

BUSINESS AGAIN.

Our terms are Cash, and positively not over thirty days to responsible parties.

Any farmer that is worthy of credit can borrow money at 6 per cent. and then pay the merchant cash, and save at least 20 per cent., and then if you buy goods at a cash store you don't pay for another man's credit. We have proven beyond question that you can save money by paying cash. A credit store can talk about selling their CASH CUSTOMERS cheap, but they can't do it, and a person with ordinary intelligence knows they can't, and any one that don't know why they can't, we can enlighten them upon the subject. Our experiment has been a success; who knows it better than our customers? We have a Large and Complete Stock for the SPRING TRADE.

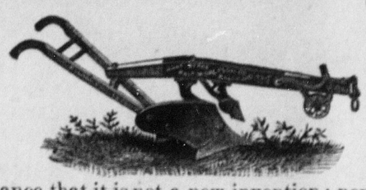
PLOWS.



Thorough plowing and pulverization of the soil is the foundation upon which the successful farmer builds his prosperity. To accomplish this, the character of the plow becomes a matter of the first importance. We present the

"Roland Chilled Plow"

to our farmer friends with the assurance that it is not a new invention; nevertheless, it embodies all the improvements known to plow manufacturers. It has an established and enviable reputation, of MANY YEARS STANDING, as being the best bevel land side plow now in use. We assure our friends that a BEVEL LAND SIDE PLOW is superior to any straight land side plow.

The ROLAND CHILLED PLOW is manufactured of the best material, and is of the most perfect workmanship. The parts subject to wear are so chilled as to give strength as well as durability.

Its construction warrants light draft, and it runs so steady that a boy who can drive the team can man the plow—either for two or three horses—and execute the best mechanical plowing.

It will clean or scour in any soil from the start. It is furnished with solid or slip-pointed shares for ordinary or deep plowing. It is equally a successful plow in soft, hard or gravelly soil, and will turn a furrow up hill as complete as on the level ground.

We invite a critical examination of the construction of this plow as well as a thorough test in plowing.

We offer it for sale at remarkably low prices, and on liberal terms.

We keep a stock of shares and other parts for the OLIVER and SYRACUSE Chilled Plows.

)o(

CULTIVATORS.

)THE(

HENCH RIDING CULTIVATORS

are the farmers favorite, and need no commendation from us. We are the authorized agents for their sale in this part of Centre county. The CHAMPION is the new Hench walking cultivator, a remarkably neat and well constructed implement, and is a credit to the skill and workmanship of these leading cultivator manufacturers. We invite those in want of cultivators to inspect those on exhibition at our store. We can assure our friends that there are no other cultivators in the market equal to the HENCH.

One-horse Cultivators and Shovel Plows that defy competition in prices.

)o(

HAY RAKES.

We are selling the

CHAMPION

horse hay rake for $16.50, and a better rake for $17.50. We sell the hay rake, which is the best hay rake in the world, at astonishingly low prices.

TIGER SELF-DUMP

HAY TEDDERS.

The large crop of grass now growing, will be hard to handle unless farmers use hay tedders. The

BURDICK

HAY TEDDER is the BEST.

HAY FORKS! Double Harpoon Hay Forks. Price, $1.25 each.

GRAIN DRILLS.

We are the authorized agents for the sale of the CHAMPION and PENNSYLVANIA GRAIN DRILLS. These drills are complete in construction, and are guaranteed to sow grain, seed and fertilizers in the best farmer-like manner. We are prepared to furnish these drills at prices which will justify farmers in buying them. Farmers in want of drills will promote their interests by calling on us and examine the drills and prices for themselves.

Buggies and Platform Spring Wagons.

A customer after examining our spring wagons, a few days ago, said we had the best wagons for the least money he had seen in Centre county.

Auburn Road and Farm Wagons.

These wagons are made to our order; with steel skeins or steel axles, and we offer them to our customers with full confidence that they are the best wagons ever sold in this vicinity.

)o(

Fruit Evaporators. The outlook for a large crop of good fruit is very favorable. A fruit evaporator does not cost so much money, nevertheless, it can be made more profitable than a cider mill. An elegant opportunity for families of two or three boys to learn a new business and make some money. Call and examine the sample at our store.

)o(

FERTILIZERS.

We sell six grades of fertilizers; we assure the farmers of Centre county that we deal in no shoddy goods. In purchasing, the quality is our first consideration and we guarantee every grade of fertilizer we sell is of the quality represented.

CROCKERS' BUFFALO HONEST FERTILIZER

of which we are Sole Agents in this territory, needs no commendation at our hands. It has always realized to the farmer a fair equivalent for the money invested.

In addition to the above we have arranged for the balance of our stock with the Chemical Co. of Canton, located in a suburb of the city of Baltimore, Md.

This company is composed of the Bakers of Baltimore, who formerly conducted the business in their own name and is a house of undoubted reputation for furnishing exactly what they represent.

From this company we obtain five grades of fertilizers—

Dissolved South Carolina Bone,
Dissolved South Carolina Bone and Potash,
Soluable Alkaline Bone Phosphate,
Resurgam Guano and Bakers Standard Guano;

either of which is of the highest standard of quality in its class.

We sold this brand of DISSOLVED SOUTH CAROLINA BONE or ROCK in the vicinity of the Pennsylvania State College last fall—1885—in competition with two other brands, all of which were analyzed at that institution. The Rock we sold proved to be fifty eight cents per ton more valuable than one of its competitors, and four dollars and forty eight cents per ton more valuable than the other, all of which were sold to the farmers at about the same price. This fact should induce farmers to buy fertilizers from dealers who know what they are selling and have the common honesty to sell what they represent.

We invite a careful inspection of the quality of the fertilizers we offer for sale, as well as the prices of the same, including such information as we are always prepared to furnish thereto.

)o(

HYDRAULIC CEMENT.

We have been induced to enter into the cement business, for the reason that MR. WILLIAM SHORTLIDGE'S long connection with the Water Works of Bellefonte gave him an extended opportunity to see the effects of using poor and standard cements. We can assure our customers that the cements in which we deal are of uniform quality and of the highest standard of excellence.

We carry a stock of AKRON, ROSENDALE "Hoffman Brand," and the ENGLISH PORTLAND.

The AKRON has been manufactured during the last 60 years and has been used in the construction of some of the most elaborate Railroad bridges and reservoirs in the United States. Thomas Collins, the well known railroad contractor, informs us that he has used thousands of barrels of it, who recommends it as being a most excellent article. The AKRON cement is being used in the construction of the Croton aqueduct, which will convey water forty two miles to the city of New York. This of itself, is a sufficient guarantee of its superior quality.

We sell the ROSENDALE cement "Hoffman Brand," which is so well known that it needs no commendation at our hands. We keep in stock the ENGLISH PORTLAND cement, the best artificial cement in the world.

)o(

We exercise our best judgment in purchasing stock, and spare no efforts to furnish what we represent and trust the community will appreciate our motives by favoring us with a share of their patronage.

There is a growing practice of venders calling on farmers to sell them their supplies, who succeed in obtaining higher prices for what they sell, with dinner and horse feed thrown in, than the same articles can be purchased of us at our store. We invite farmers to investigate this matter, examine articles and prices before making up their minds to purchase. Visitors are ALWAYS WELCOME whether they buy or not, and WE TAKE PLEASURE IN EXHIBITING WHAT WE HAVE TO SELL

A Frightful Occurrence.

CHICAGO, July 22.—Mrs. Alfred Barry and Mrs. H. C. Stover, with their two young sons, had a narrow escape from a terrible death last evening. The two ladies and their children drove up in a carriage to the west approach of Lake street bridge, just as the tender rang the bell warning pedestrians and drivers that the structure would be opened for the passage of an approaching vessel, Mrs. Stover was driving and she halted her horse, a spirited animal, on the edge of the viaduct. The hissing sound made by the locomotive startled the horse beyond control of its driver, and it made a dash toward the swinging bridge.

Mrs. Stover made a brave attempt to check the frightened horse by pulling on the reins, but her efforts availed nothing. Mrs. Barry and her son threw themselves out of the carriage and called upon Mrs. Stover and her son to do the same. Officer Brennan saw the runaway, and, springing forward, caught the horse's head and attempted to stop its flight, but he was knocked down and the carriage passed over his body. The horse continued on its course and succeeded in running upon the bridge, but before he could drag the buggy on the roadway the structure had swung too far, and it crashed against one of the massive arches.

The shock of the collision released the horse from the harness and threw both the lady and her son from their seat clear over the dashboard on the roadbed of the bridge. The carriage rolled into the river.

Officer Brennan's action in momemtarily stopping the runaway alone saved the lives of Mrs. Stover and her child. He is seriously injured, however, and will be laid up for some time. The ladies and children escaped with a few bruises.

A Shortage of $500,000.

BOSTON, July 22.—The directors of the Lowell Bleachery corporation, a large and wealthy concern, have removed Samuel G. Snelling from the office of treasurer, which he has held for twenty-seven years. A committee to investigate his accounts was appointed. Its chairman said that the deposed treasurer has been guilty of grave irregularities. The account is not known, and it may be anywhere from $200,000 to $500,000. The capital stock of the corporation is $550,000, but this is no indication of its wealth, for the assets are far in excess of that figure. A reorganization of the company may be necessary, but its solvency is in no danger.

The deposed treasurer has not been arrested, and it is said that he is at his home, in Nahant. Mr. Percival Lowell has been elected to succeed him. The corporation is about 50 years old, and is one of the most widely known of any in New England. The company has suspended payment pending an investigation of its affairs. The company's business of the dyeing, bleaching and finishing is cotton cloth. It has been doing a business of about ten million dollars per annum, and it has paid six per cent. dividend during recent years and a higher rate formerly.

In a Mowing Machine.

Special to the Altoona Tribune.

PORT ROYAL, Pa., July 21.—The sad intelligence of a terrible accident which happened to David Auker, a young farmer of about 30 years, who resides nine miles east of this place, in Juniata county, has just been learned. Yesterday evening while he was mowing grass he stopped his team and walked out on the mower tongue to fix something about the harness, when the horses started, throwing him off, tore his left arm and leg off. The machine struck a stump shortly afterward and the horses stopped. When picked up, Auker was in a dying condition.

Purchased a Newspaper.

OMAHA, Neb., July 21.—Rounds, of Chicago, public printer at Washington, who has been in the city several days negotiating for the purchase of the Omaha Daily Republican newspaper and job printing establishment, closed the contract for the purchase last night. The price to be paid is $100,000 cash. Rounds will take possession in October. The editor in chief is to be O. H. Rothacker, his son-in-law, formerly editor of the Denver Tribune, but now editing the Washington Hatchet. Rounds will probably resign the office of public printer in a few days.

Halstead Answers Back.

CINCINNATI, July 22.—Mr. Halstead will reply to-morrow in an editorial over his own signature to the attack made on him by Gen. Logan, in which he exploits his own long friendship for Logan and kindly devotion to his political fortunes, and charges that Logan has displayed peculiar gratitude for these services. He acknowledges mistakes made in certain criticisms during the war period on prominent leaders, but charges that he never went as far as Logan in defending the Fugitive Slave law. He makes no reply to Logan's review of his (Halstead's) career as a Republican editor.

The Oldest Official Dead—Manning Better.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—William Hunter, second assistant secretary of state and the oldest official in continuous service in the United States, died here to-day of a complication of diseases incident to old age.

A friend of Mrs. Secretary Manning in this city has received a letter from her stating that the secretary's health is improving so rapidly that he will probably be able to resume his official duties when he returns in October.

Accepted.

LONDON, July 21.—The queen's messenger arrived at Mr. Gladstone's office residence on Downing street at 2 o'clock this afternoon, bearing a message from her majesty accepting the resignations of the members of the cabinet tendered by Mr. Gladstone yesterday.

LATER.—It is officially announced that the queen will summon the marquis of Salisbury to form a new ministry.

PARIS, July 21.—Much annoyance is felt in government circles in Paris at the fact that M. Waddington, the French ambassador attended the garden party which the prince of Wales gave in honor of the queen at Marlborough house, on Saturday, upon which occasion the Orleans princes were received with royal honors.

BANGOR, Me., July 21.—Maine's delegation to the Grand Army encampment at San Francisco leaves Portland on Thursday. Colonel A. C. Hamlin will take with him the battle flag presented to the Second regiment in July, 1861, by loyal California, and carried in many battles of Virginia.

The operation of trephining has been performed, and there are hopes of the young lady's recovery.

COPENHAGEN, July 22.—There is a scheme on foot in Copenhagen to construct a tunnel under the sound connecting the Swedish town of Malmo with the Danish island Amerger in the harbor of Copenhagen. It is understood that the work will be supervised by French engineers, and that the cost of the tunnel will be met with French capital.

PITTSBURGH, July 23.—The men employed at Isabella furnace held a meeting this morning and decided to demand an advance in wages but deferred final action until next Wednesday. The Ferdinand Remys mill, for the manufacture of rolled iron, in Dortmund, Westphalia, has suspended operations, $300,000 in arrears, which the establishment is unable to meet. "Dozens of Letters a Day pour in upon Dr. David Kennedy, of Roundout, N. Y., from people who have been benefitted by using his popular preparation called Kennedy's 'Favorite Remedy.' And they often illustrate what this remarkable medicine accomplishes in some new and hitherto untried field of operation. Not infrequently patients come long distances to grasp the Doctor by the hand and express their gratitude for deliverance from pain.—Troy (N.Y.) Daily Times.

—Mr. James Witmyer, who lives about a mile northeast of Millheim, was seriously hurt a few days ago. A cant hook, with which he was rolling a log, struck him, knocking him a distance of fifteen feet.

—The Altoona Times publishes numerous items, daily, under the caption "Keystone Kernels," but there are several Colonels in Bellefonte whom we have never seen mentioned in that department.

—A large and very enjoyable party occurred on Thursday evening at the home of Jno. P. Harris. The elegant residence was the scene of much festivity and mirth, and the occasion will long be remembered with pleasure.

—The Harrisburg Patriot, Thursday contained an announcement that the Bellefonte Iron Company was chartered Wednesday with a capital of $10,000. The figures are of course one of those misprints so often found in city dailies, as the capital is $1,000,000.

—We have received bulletin No. 14 of Pennsylvania State College. These bulletins are useful to farmers. They will be sent free of charge to any intelligent farmer who will send to the college his name and post-office. Address William Frear, Ph. D., Assistant Professor of Agricultural Chemistry.

—It is said that our friend, Mr. Francis Speer, resolutely refuses to ride over Nittany mountain with less than an omnibus full of people. Several years ago, while almost alone in his trip over the mountain, he was greatly frightened, and whenever he reaches that identical spot the remembrance of the event comes to him very vividly.

—We have no doubt that the proposal made by Mr. Hess, of Linden Hall, will be accepted, and that his beautiful picnic grounds will be fixed up in handsome style. The propriety of aiding in the expense which this will entail must suggest itself to Superintendent Westfall, of the Lemont division, as the Railroad Company will be the only financial gainers by such an enterprise. The spring adjacent to the ground is said to be almost as large and beautiful as Bellefonte's famous spring.

The Bellefonte Lodge, I. O. G. T., Visit Their Friends in Centre Hall.

A week or ten days ago the lodge of Good Templars of this place received an invitation to pay a visit to the lodge of Good Templars at Centre Hall. The invitation was accepted, and on Tuesday evening a merry party of about twenty-five started for the thriving little town beyond the mountains. The hack which was called into requisition to convey the party was crowded to its utmost capacity and then it was necessary to procure a carriage to accommodate the overflow, numbering six persons.

The company enjoyed themselves on the way with singing, jokes and laughter, until they came to the ascent of Nittany mountain, when it was observed that some would be compelled to use nature's mode of traveling—get out and walk. The stronger and more active cheerfully complied, although there were several who were not well prepared to do so, having abstained from eating their usual supper in expectation of the generous treat before them. Despite their weakness, however, they easily reached the mountain top. Those who had undergone voluntary fast spent part of the time in drawing mental pictures of the coming feast, most of them agreeing on chicken and waffles. Others, less susceptible to these cravings of the inner man, loudly proclaimed that they expected nothing more than a pleasant meeting and a visit with their brother and sister Good Templars. They reached the pretty town, slumbering in the twilight, and were met by that genial, active gentleman, Mr. Clevan Dinges, and several others who constituted a committee of the Lodge. The committee escorted the visitors up a wide flight of stairs and into a spacious hall, well ventilated and tastefully carpeted, evincing the prosperity of the Lodge. Several members of the Centre Hall Lodge were assembled here and introductions followed. There were also present the Messrs. Derstine, of the Lewistown Lodge, and Mr. Webber, of the Lodge at Warren, Pa. The latter gentleman made an appropriate address.

The Centre Hall Lodge then held a business meeting, transacting the regular routine. Under the division known as business for the good of the order, several ladies and gentlemen of the Bellefonte Lodge delivered instructive addresses.

The most welcome announcement was that made by Rev. King, that refreshments would be served. Then came a generous supply of ice cream and cake, served in excellent style and so tempting that several members of the Bellefonte party called for two or three saucers each of the frozen sweetness.

It is said that one Bellefonte young lady with a bird-like appetite caused six ice creams and half a dozen slices of cake to disappear. It is said, furthermore, that had the entertainers not provided such an abundant supply, two persons of Mr. Bond Valentine's capacity would have consumed all of it.

This feast of good things was followed by a flow of social chat, which continued until the tap of the gavel by Rev. Fischer, the worthy Vice, called all to order. Rev. Fischer is the pastor of the Lutheran church, is greatly esteemed by all and is a very bright and interesting gentlemen. The tap to order was preliminary to a literary treat, including declamations and essays, interspersed by excellent music rendered by a choir of ladies and gentlemen. Among these exercises were a declamation by Mr. Wolf, a very promising young gentleman; an excellent, well-written essay by Miss Rishel, who is an attractive young lady; and a recitation by Mr. Dinges. After a few miscellaneous remarks the Chaplain offered prayer and the gathering was dismissed. Thus ended one of the most delightful occasions.

The lodge at Centre Hall is in a flourishing condition. It is composed of of about thirty-five members, who are as hospitable and generous as any to be found. Of course, the Bellefonte Lodge will take pleasure in soon returning the compliment.

—On Tuesday evening there was a meeting of the Bellefonte School Board which resulted in the adoption of the plan submitted by Mr. Robert Cole for the new school building. We did not give this item of news on Wednesday, however, because of a possibility that a special meeting would be held for the purpose of reconsidering the vote, carried by a majority of only one. We are glad, however, that the vote was not reconsidered as the plan adopted will likely give satisfaction. It is a very convenient and excellent plan, with a remarkably complete utilization of space. The building will be of brick, and will include accommodations for the High School, though it will not have an assembly room, such as was provided for in the Gregory plan. At the same meeting, the Routan-Smead system of heating and ventilation was adopted. This system met the views of almost all the board, the vote in its favor being 6 to 3. The system is said to approach as near perfection as possible. The site for the new school building will be on the lot next the McDermott property on East Bishop street, which has been purchased from the Messrs. Blanchard.

—The military camp meetings will end this week and the religious camp meetings will soon begin.

An Opportunity to Organize a Base Ball League.

A letter just received from Lewisburg is as follows:

LEWISBURG, PA., July 21, 1886.

F. P. BLAIR—Dear Sir: We are trying to get up a B. B. League, with a $25 guarantee, composed of Lewistown, Huntingdon, Sunbury, Danville, Lewisburg and Bellefonte. The above would make a nice circuit and pay expenses, so that a club could last the season through and pay expenses and have one game at home a week. If you think favorable of this let us hear from you.

Resp'y yours,
Bx 151. H. C. WOLFE, Treas.

This, it seems to us, is a fine opportunity for Bellefonte to put itself in a position to do some creditable work at base ball, making the game attractive and interesting to all. Surely, a guarantee of $25 for each game is not beyond the ability of the home nine.

The need at present is a person to undertake the management of the home nine. Mr. Blair, the former very competent manager, is too deeply engressed in business. Will not some interested person volunteer?

We hope that this effort to establish a league will receive proper encouragement from Bellefonte.

—Messrs Philip and Thomas Collins attended a railroad suit in Lock Haven, on Thursday. Frank McLaughlin, of the Philadelphia Times, sued the Beech Creek, Clearfield and Southwestern Railroad Company for between $30,000 and $40,000 damages caused by delay on the part of the Company while McLaughlin, through the Messrs. Collins, contractors, was doing work on the road. Fitzpatrick & Moonan were sub-contractors, and recovered a verdict from McLaughlin in the court of this county. McLaughlin now seeks to recover from the railroad, which he will probably succeed in doing. The trial is before Robert H. Sayre, chief engineer of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company; John A. Wilson, civil engineer, of Philadelphia; and W. S. Nearing, chief engineer, of B. C., C. & S. W. R. R.. They preside as a board of arbitration.

—As we are now in the midst of the heated term of the year it may be interesting to know how to treat persons who may be prostrated by the heat. If one is overcome by heat, is pale, weak and pulseless, he wants a teaspoonful of brandy, in water, to stimulate him. If he is florid in the face, and his heart is running like a windmill, he wants an application of cold water, with ice on the temples and wrists. The first is "overcome by heat;" the second genuine "sunstroke," and a deal more dangerous. The former is preceded by nausea and dizziness; the latter, if there are any premonitions at all, with a sudden dimness of sight, everything turning green.

—The completeness of the commissary department at Roaring Springs Camp and the fine quality of the supplies have been alluded to frequently in the reports in the REPUBLICAN. We do not wonder that everything provided for that department is excellent when we hear that a large part of it has been provided by Mr. Hammon Sechler, of this place, who is one of the best grocers that ever conducted a store within the bounds of this State. This is fresh proof that those who want to purchase pure groceries cannot do better than to patronize Bellefonte merchants.

—On Thursday we saw a book of perhaps 150 pages filled with manuscript executed by Chas. Hewes, Esq. The writing embraces an immense amount of legal wisdom, being the analysis he made of Blackstone's commentaries while a student with Lawyer Potter. We commented upon the fact that it would be of great advantage to Charley if he had all that wisdom in his mind as well as on paper, and were surprised to learn from his legal preceptor that the learning is probably still in his memory, for when Charley once grasps a fact or idea he retains it.

—There was a wedding in Wadsworth, Medina county, Ohio, on July 8, in which people of Centre county are interested. The bride was Miss Jennie B. Hunt, of that place, and the groom was Mr. Charles S. Dannley, who now lives in Wadsworth. He is a son of Mr. George Dannley, of Pine Grove, this county. Charles went West about five years ago and is prospering. We notice that Mr. John Musser, of Wilson & McFarlane's hardware store, Bellefonte, was represented among those who sent wedding presents. We wish the young couple much happyness.

—The Centre Democrat, in referring to the presence of Col. A. Wilson Norris and family in Aaronsburg, remarks: "Perhaps he is looking for a secluded spot in the mountains, where he can hide his defeat." He has no occasion to hide his defeat or any other kind of feet, but if his feet were as large as those of George Bible he couldn't possibly find a place secluded enough in which to hide them. To obscure George's feet from public view would be an impossible feat.

—We consider that A. A. Dale, Esq., would make a capital candidate for the responsible office of District Attorney. He is able, studious and conscientious. While the interests of the Commonwealth would be carefully looked after by him, exact justice would be admirably tempered with mercy.

A Literary Coup D'etat.

Of all the surprises to which the reading public has been treated by Mr. Alden's surprising Literary Revolution, perhaps the most remarkable is the last.

Two of the choicest and most famous books in modern literature, Washington Irving's "The Sketch Book" and "Knickerbocker's History of New York," are just published in style worthy of this most widely celebrated and universally honored of American authors. The two books together form One of the Nine volumes of his works also just published. The type is large, leaded, beautiful; the two volumes bound in one comprise 606 pages; the binding is half morocco, marbled edges. The only other edition in the market that at all compares with this or rivals it, is advertised by the publisher at $3.00 per volume.

Mr. Alden's price when sold in sets of nine volumes, is a little less than $1.00 per volume. He now offers this single specimen volume until September 1,1886, for the price (if it can be called a price) of 50 cents, by mail, postage paid.

This offer without restriction or condition; if there are a hundred thousand, or half a million of those who take pleasure in the works of Washington Irving, who want the volume, he says he will fill their orders as fast as his printers and binders can turn them out.

If you want to complete your set after you have received this volume, you can, of course do so by paying the additional price for the set. The object of this extraordinary "Coup D'Etat" is of course, advertising; except for this consideration the price would be ridiculous and ruinous. Mr. Alden sends his complete Condensed Catalogue of standard books free to any applicant, or his Illustrated Catalogue. 132 pages, for four cents. Address, John B. Alden, Publisher, 393 Pearl Street, New York.

Home from the War.

Company B, N. G., returned, somewhat unexpectedly, from camp on Friday night. They were not looked for until to-day, but their regular time for camp was completed and they concluded to return in time to get well rested for Sunday. They are unanimous in pronouncing it one of the most enjoyable encampments they ever experienced. The location was lovely, the place where the tents were pitched being dotted with tall maple trees growing as close together as the trees on the grounds in front of the court house. The soldiers, except in a few instances, do not appear to be unduly fatigued, but bore the trying experience like veterans.

—Luther Showalter was arrested Thursday morning charged with the robbery of $2,300 from the residence of Thomas Westbrook, in Huntingdon, on the 1st of February last. Fourteen hundred and sixty-one dollars of the $2,300 were returned four days after the robbery in a small bag which was left in the alley leading to the rear of Mr. Westbrook's residence. The information which lead to the arrest of Showalter was obtained from Samuel Stair, who was struck by Showalter on Saturday night during a drunken spree. Stair claims and swears that on the day of the robbery he was in the rear of the lot and saw Showalter force open the back door of Westbrook's residence and enter it, and after remaining some time saw him come out again with the boodle in his possession. Showalter is a married man whose residence adjoins Westbrook's He has been held for trial.—Altoona Times.

A Wonderful Book.

We should judge, by the wording of advertisement in another column of this paper, that the new book entitled, "The World's Wonders," is indeed a wonderful book. It will pay the curious, as well as those seeking employment, to read the advertisement. The Historical Publishing Co. offers to give standard books free to persons who will send them names of book agents. They also offer to start people without capital in a business that will pay from $15 to $50 a day—a pretty good income for these hard times. Read the advertisement.

Camp Notes.

Adjutant Hale being on the sick list Thursday, J. D. Geissinger filled that office.

Col. Hastings received a handsome bouquet on Thursday. Compliments of Miss Annie B. Hite.

A complimentary dinner was given to the Colonel and his staff at the residence of E. D. Kegeries, opposite the camp grounds.

One of my children, a girl about nine years old, had a very bad discharge from her head and nose of a thick, yellowish matter, and was growing worse. We had two different physicians prescribe for her, but without benefit. We tried Ely's Cream Balm, and much to our surprise in three days there was a marked improvement. We continued using the Balm and in a short time the discharge was apparently cured.—O. A. Cary, Corning, N. Y.

We should have better preaching if the preachers were all sound and healthy men. Calvin may have had the dyspepsia, but it did him no good as a theologian. A Methodist minister of Hartford, Conn., writes that Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" cured him of chronic liver disease and indigestion. His brethren of all denominations are respectfully invited to note the fact. Sick preachers are in poor condition to proclaim the gospel news. Sound bodies are wanted.

—The correspondent of the Altoona Time's remarks: "Company B, of Bellefonte, is composed of a model set of young men, many of whom will reach an upper rung on the ladder of military fame."

Excitement in Texas.

Great excitement has been caused in the vicinity of Paris, Texas, by the remarkable recovery of Mr. J. E Corley, who was so helpless he could not turn in bed, or raise his head; everybody said he was dying of consumption. A trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery was sent him. Finding relief, he bought a large bottle and a box of Dr. King's New Life Pills; by the time he had taken two boxes of Pills and two bottles of the Discovery he was well and had gained in flesh thirty six pounds. Trial bottle of this great Discovery for consumption free at J. ZELLER & SON'S.

—How does it happen that Joe W. Furey is not mentioned for some political office this fall? Corruption will surely creep into the parties if the printers are excluded.

Very Remarkable Recovery.

Mr. Geo. V. Willing, of Manchester, Mich., writes; "My wife has been almost helpless for five years, so helpless that she could not turn over in bed alone. She used two bottles of Electric Bitters, and is so much improved that she is able now to do her own work."

Electric Bitters will do all that is claimed for them. Hundreds of testimonials attest their great curative power. Only fifty cents a bottle at J. ZELLER & SON'S.

AN EXTRAORDINARY OFFER.

To All Wanting Employment.

We want Live, Energetic and Capable Agents in every county in the United States and Canada, to sell a patent article of great merit, ON ITS MERITS. An article having a large sale, paying over 100 per cent profit, having no competition, and on which the agent is protected in the exclusive sale by a deed given for each and every county he may secure from us. With all these advantages to our agents and the fact that it is an article that can be sold to every householder, it might not be necessary to make an "EXTRAORDINARY OFFER" to secure good agents at once, but we have concluded to make it to show, not only our confidence in the merits of our invention, but in its salability by any agent that will handle it with energy. Our agents now at work are making from $150 to $200 a month clear and this fact makes it safe for us to make our offer to all who are out of employment. Any agent that will give our business a thirty days' trial and fail to clear at least $100 in this time, ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all goods unsold to us and we will refund the money paid for them. Any agent or general agent who would like ten or more counties and work them through sub-agents for ninety days and fail to clear at least $750 ABOVE ALL EXPENSES, can return all unsold and get their money back. No other employer of agents ever dared to make such offers, nor would we if we did not know that we have agents now making more than double the amount we guaranteed; and but two sales a day would give a profit of over $125 a month, and that one of our agents took eighteen orders in one day. Our large descriptive circulars explain our offer fully, and these we wish to send to everyone out of employment who will send us three one cent stamps for postage. Send at once and secure the agency in time for the boom, and go to work on the terms named in our extraordinary offer. We would like to have the address of all the agents, sewing machine solicitors and carpenters in the country, and ask any reader of this paper who reads this offer, to send us at once the name and address of all such they know. Address at once, or you will lose the best chance ever offered to those out of employment to make money. RENNER MANUFACTURING CO.,

SCROFULA

Usually develops in early life, and is a peculiar morbid condition of the system, usually affecting the glands, often resulting in swellings, enlarged joints, abscesses, thickening of the lips, enlarged neck, sore eyes. A scrofulous condition is often hereditary, but bad diet, too free use of fat meats, bad air, want of sunshine and nourishing food will induce it. Some people are troubled with scrofulous swelling of the glands, and with ulcers and kernels, which may cause very little pain; others may have inward scrofula, scrofula of the lungs, scrofula of the spleen, scrofula of the kidneys, and scrofula of the bones. BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS will drive away any case of scrofula and not to appear in another place, for their action on the blood and bowels will carry the disease entirely from the body.

THE LIFE LESSON

Learned by a Prominent Hudson Odd Fellow.

[From the Hudson (N. Y.) Register.]

Mr. John Elting, a faithful Odd Fellow (Past Grand, Lindenwald, No. 442) and a member of the Baptist Church, says: I have been, as most of my acquaintances here in Hudson know, a sufferer from dyspepsia for ten years. Beginning with indigestion, sour stomach, and flatulence, I became so weak that my body became a burden too heavy to carry and my mind was weighted down by a gloomy despondency. After eating I felt as if I had a ball of glowing iron in my stomach; my abdomen would bloat and I was afflicted almost constantly with a sick headache. A lady learning of my condition, advised me to use DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY, telling me what an infinite deal of good it had done her others whom she knew. I began taking it in the latter part of August, and used altogether three bottles, when it achieved in me the most wonderful improvement. I have now gained flesh, and feel stronger, better and happier than I have in ten years. FAVORITE REMEDY cured my friend, R. F. Hermans, of Ghent, of the lingering remains of malarial fever and of billiousness. Mr. Harvey Thomas, the grocer on Warren street, just below the Worth House, says that it has had wonderfully good effects on him. Scores of my acquaintances say that, having once tried it, they would never again be without it. I have given it to my children and found it the best medicine I have ever known for regulating their bowels and purifying their blood. The knowledge of this medicine I deem the greatest lesson of physical life."

A BATTLE AND ITS VICTORY.—"I carried the burden of dyspepsia about all my life," said Mrs. Pierce, a lady eighty years old, residing at Rochester, N. Y., "until about three years ago I began taking Dr. David Kennedy's 'Favorite Remedy'—of Rondout, you know—and it has given me more ambition and strength, than I have had since I was young."

"The climate is good, the location lovely and the town very beautiful," they say, "but it seems too much like a barnyard to be the abode of men and women."

—An attempt was made on Monday evening to get together a quorum of the school board, the object being to reconsider the motion recently carried in regard to the plans for a new school house. There was not a quorum present. We are also informed that such a motion cannot be reconsidered except at a regular meeting of the Board.

A Robber's Easy Escape.

The telephone line did not operate perfectly Monday and, therefore, we could not glean an interesting story from it in all its details, but from what we could hear we conclude that an event that took place on the road between Snow Shoe and Karthaus, on Monday, had about it some of the features which mark the desperado doings of the West.

A man was arrested at Karthaus by a two of the iron and coal police from Snow Shoe on the charge of robbing a store. The arrest was made quietly. The man was invited to take a ride in the conveyance alongside of the two officers and he stepped in without being informed as to what was wanted of him. The three men rode along toward Snow Shoe like friends. When near the town, however, the man said that he would get out as he did not want to go all the way to Snow Shoe. "Oh, no;" remarked one of his companions. "Sit still; Squire —— at Snow Shoe wants to see you." At the same time the officer placed his weight on top of the prisoner to thwart any attempt to escape. But in less time than is required to write it the officer was pitched out one side of the vehicle while the prisoner jumped out the other, and he was hidden in the woods before either officer could make use of his weapon. The robber is still at large.

LATER PARTICULARS.

Since writing the above we have been informed that the store robbed was none other than that of our young friend, Mr. William Grauer, at Snow Shoe. The man who was arrested and who escaped so easily was named Runy Holt. It is believed that still another person was concerned in the robbery. The goods taken consisted of jewelry, $40 worth of which has been found, together with some tickets which may lead to the arrest and conviction of the robbers.

An Old Gentleman Falls into the Race.

Dr. E. J. Deshler and wife, of Aaronsburg, alighted from the night train at this place Tuesday. They made the mistake of stepping from the cars on the side next the mill race and the Doctor stepped too far and went plunging down the bank into the muddy water. The Doctor was immersed from head to foot in the water and lost his hat and umbrella. He is an old man and quite heavy. The fall might have been serious, and it is a wonder that no limbs were broken. As it is, he would have drowned had not persons gone to his assistance. Mr Taylor, the foundryman at the Novelty works, helped him up the bank and over to the Bush House. The Doctor seems to be all right this morning and walked over to look at the spot from whence he took his involuntary plunge. It is surprising to us that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company permits such an exposed place to remain near its tracks. Only a few weeks ago a prominent lady resident of this place, alighting from the cars in the evening, had the same experience. We understand that the Doctor does not intend to permit the matter to pass so quietly as the lady did.

A Barn Destroyed by Fire.

On Monday night about 10 o'clock the barn owned by Mr. Morgan Lucas, at what is known as school house crossing near Gum Stump along the Snow Shoe railroad, caught fire and burned to the ground. The origin of the fire is doubtless due to spontaneous combustion, the hay with which it was stocked, becoming heated and igniting. The forty tons of hay were burned and also a load of hay in the wagon. Mr. Lucas' entire crop of wheat and rye, also in the barn, was burned, together with a thrasher and many other farming utensils. Help arrived in time to release the stock, which was all saved. The loss will be between $2,000 and $3,000. There was no insurance. The loss to Mr. Lucas is very severe. He is an excellent and very successful farmer, and will have the sympathy of all in his misfortune.

—Mr. W. R. Teller, proprietor of the Bush House, who forms one of a large and growing party now located at Benner's Run, was in Bellefonte Tuesday morning. By the way, our weighty friend, D. G. Bush, Esq., who is with the party, made a mistake the other day which is a brilliant illustration of the careless sort of a life persons lead in such a place and under such circumstances. He awoke the other night and supposed by the appearance of things that morning was dawning. He called to another gentleman to get up; that it was morning. The other gentleman also arose but on looking at his watch at once retired again, as it was just twelve o'clock, midnight. Mr. Bush, however, took a seat on the extending roots of a tree where he soon fell asleep and reposed delightfully until morning Mr. P. G. Meek's family are also there. The location is one of 400 acres which Mr. Meek and several other persons (some from Lewisburg) have purchased for this special purpose. There one or two gentlemen have erected cottages and when they retire there during the summer they can enjoy themselves thoroughly. The company will be increased next week by some persons from Lewisburg.

—Oh, of course, that $500,000 depot building will be erected next Summer.

A Question of Attitude.

The Watchman has taken occasion to repr'mand the Presbyterian congregation for its manner of worship.

Joe should know—evidently he does not—that the Presbyterian church does not restrict its members to any special form of prayer any more than it does him or any other stranger that chooses to visit or commune in its sanctuary. The church recognizes but one great truth on this subject, namely, that God who hears and answers all prayer, does not require attitude, but the holy sentiment of a penitent heart, as in the case of Daniel in the den of lions, the men in the furnace of fire, Jonah in the big fish, the thief on the cross, Christ himself on the cross, and other authenticated instances of God's acceptance of prayer, irrespective of posture. As to the singing, all are commanded to praise God—if some do praise Him (and the balance are too "proud" or "lazy," as Joe would put it,) why the singers are only trying to do their duty. Again, God does not receive this praise by the quantity or quality, but in the same manner as prayer.

I hope that Joe may soon be able to offer up a prayer of penitance and come into the church in a proper frame of spirit and take his place in the choir as humble and musical as the nightingale that sings in the night when all other things rest, and thus be prevented stoning himself. PRESBYTERIAN.

On the Diamond.

One of the most enjoyable games of base ball played this season was that on the Fair ground Friday evening between two picked nines, captained respectively by L. L. Brown and John Lane. Among the players were Doctor Harris, James Lane, Howard Lingle, Joseph Montgomery, Brouse, Crider, Snyder and Whiteman. The game was played without an error, the score being 13 to 14 in favor of Lane's nine.

NOTES.

Mr. Brown did some exceptionally brilliant playing in centre field, catching a fly and throwing a man out on first.

Mr. Lingle could not be excelled in his third base playing and his very heavy batting.

Dr. Harris covered himself with glory by his performances in the field. He got over the entire field and caught some hot liners.

James Lane proved himself to be the great batter of either team and his second base playing was remarkable.

Capt. John Lane is a second Brothers on first base, and also wielded the willow with grace.

Joseph Montgomery run for Brown and got there. As a baseman he is a wonder.

The only accident was when Captain Lane collided with Powell at first base.

About the New Depot.

One reason for the delay on the part of the Pennsylvania Railroad in erecting the new depot building is because they don't know exactly what sort of a building they want. If certain plans now talked of are carried out, the company will want a building here which shall equal any on the line.

It is a fact not often thought of that Bellefonte is a central locality for quite an extensive railroad business. It is the most convenient place on the Bald Eagle from whence to direct the operations of that line, and it is also a favorable location for the headquarters of the new railroad between here and Spring Mills and and all the way to Montandon. Then other branches are to be built by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company into the iron ore regions.

The scheme involves making Bellefonte the headquarters for the business of all these lines. This will require a very elegant and costly depot building, and will be a great advantage to Bellefonte. By all means, make Bellefonte the business headquarters.

—Rev. Dr. Laurie delivered two good sermons on Sunday. That in the morning was from the fourth chapter of Matthew, the 19th and 20th verses, which read as follows: "And He saith unto them, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men. And they straight-way left their nets and followed Him." In the evening he preached on the "Priesthood," making pertinent applications of the characteristics of the priesthood as governing the Christian, who is also a priest. It is said that the singing in the Presbyterian church Sunday evening was noticeably good. This week Dr. Laurie departs on his summer vacation, to be gone four weeks, during which time the church will be closed.

—Gregg Post, No. 95, G. A. R., has already made arrangements for a series of fine entertainments in September. The season will be opened by McMillen's minstrel troupe on the evenings of the 1st and 2d. This will be followed by the renowned Agnes Wallace-Villa dramatic and opera bouffe combination. Mr. Porter, who formerly managed the Kyle Opera company, is now managing this combination. The next will probably be Emma Hendricks in "The Miner's Daughter." These constitute one of the most attractive programmes ever offered to Bellefonte.

—There was another game of base ball Saturday afternoon between two nines sailing under the suggestive names of Mulligans and Black Diamonds. The score was way up—too large to count.

Local Mention for Monday.

The time for vacation is here.

The absence from town and consequently from the choirs of prominent singers, interferes with the success of church music. Some one wants Brother Furey to wake up the Lutheran choir.

Rev. Dr. Monroe delivered a finished and able discourse Sunday morning in the Methodist church, and filled the pulpit of the Milesburg Methodist church in the evening, Rev. Guyer delivering an instructive discourse in the church here.

Dr. Boardner, who is Dr. Hafer's new partner, was on the "hightly indisposed" list Sunday and next morning, although he expected to get around to business sometime that day.

The Bush Meeting, at Houserville, under the auspices of the United Brethren church, was an event of much interest on Sunday, vast numbers attending from the surrounding county.

There was a festival at Linden Hall on Saturday evening which was attended by a hack load of Bellefonters.

Bellefonte's Railroad Prospects.

When the changes are completed, next summer, in the railroad branches, centering at Bellefonte and the erection of the new depot is determined on, Bellefonte will have every reason to call herself a great railroad centre and Lock Haven, Tyrone and Williamsport will have reason to vie with the shade of grass in the envy they will feel.

To make Bellefonte a division headquarters will necessitate the erection of a large depot building, costing from $100,000 to $500,000. It will bring to town numerous wealthy residents, and a large number of employes of the railroad. If this plan is carried out we can well afford to wait another year for a new station building.

—The Lock Haven Express of Saturday gives the following in reference to the railroad suit, Frank McLaughlin vs. the B. C. C., & S. W. R. R., on trial in that city last week: "The argument in important railroad suit which has been on trial before arbitrators in this city was concluded yesterday. Mr. Olmstead, attorney for the defendant, occupying two hours with his argument and Mr. Kress for the plaintiff, three hours. The arbitrators and attorneys yesterday visited and examined the cuts and the tunnel on the Beech Creek railroad, returning to this city last evening by special train. The case being one of much importance and great magnitude has not been decided, as the arbitrators will probably occupy considerable time in considering the arguments and evidence. W. C. Kress, the plaintiff's attorney, gave much time to the preparation of the case."

—As far as Clem. Dale, Esq., is concerned, he has no time or inclination to run for office this year. He is in the enjoyment of a large and growing practice, and that, with his increasing domestic duties and attachments, occupy all his time. Monday he was off on a trip to assess railroad damages on farm lands and he had equally important engagements for to-morrow. When the subject of being a candidate for office is broached to John Kline, Esq., he winks his off eye and looks wise. The truth is, Mr. Kline is going to make a rapid run for office some day and will be sure to get there. Among the young Republicans of Bellefonte there are many who have qualities about them, which imply the strictest honor and integrity as well as that affability which is sure to win popularity and strength.

—Now, put the plans for the new school building into the hands of some competent builder and let the structure be rushed to completion as rapidly as thoroughness and care will permit. Remember that it is to be for the accommodation of hundreds of precious lives, and let that influence the Board to see that every part of the edifice is built safe, strong and substantial. Think more of that and of its proper furnishing and equipment than of any fancy geegaws which may attract the fancy.

—We quite agree with Brother Furey, of the Watchman, that a sitting position is not the proper one in prayer. People should either kneel or stand. By the way, it was noised abroad, about five years ago, that Brother Furey was studying for the Reformed ministry. Doubtless, he has completed his theological studies by this time, and we commend him to the Reformed congregation of Bellefonte as a proper person to call as pastor.

—Osceola Reveille: Contrary to expectations noted last week, the indications to-day are that mining affairs are in a more settled condition than at any time since the 1st of January last. A speck of disaffection yet exists among some of the Osceola miners, but with the removal of local grievances at Philipsburg last week, we take it the trouble at Osceola will be settled without great difficulty.

—Now, that Bellefonte has two D. Ds. there is no reason that she should not have a third. If learning and ability merit the title it might be appropriately conferred upon Rev. Chas. Steck, of the Lutheran church, and any educational institution can honor itself by selecting one of its best D. Ds. for that gentleman.

The Story of Seventeen Woodcock.

Dedicated to the three hunters who brought in a string of woodcock a few days ago:

How strange, when our pothunters souls are enraptured
With the rich sports and delights of the scene;
They will count the five woodcocks that they have captured,
And believe them to be full seventeen.

And then when the regular sports go out sporting,
And by good shooting they bring down the game,
That the pothunters commence their railing and snorting,
And try to tarnish the sportsman's fair fame.

The pothunters' frailties are wide and unbounded,
And I am thinking it beats the old dickens,
That they should always and ever have confounded
The true game of the forest with chickens.

The song of the fair woodcock when at his singing,
Brings sounds very much like these, to your ear,
"If it is the pothunters' guns that are ringing,
There is surely not much for us to fear."
